A THRILLING RUN

THE FIRST 10 YEARS OF D-BACKS BASEBALL

The first 10 years of Arizona Diamondbacks history is in the books, and a wild and crazy time it was.

It was a decade in which the expansion team hit the heights with the unforgettable 2001 victory over the New York Yankees in one of the most storied World Series ever, and plumbed the depths, with 111 losses in 2004.

In those 10 years, the D-backs had six winning seasons, five of them in succession and won four National League West titles, but also had three straight losing seasons.

They had several dizzying "fastests," most notably fastest team to 100 wins (1999), and fastest to win a World Series (2001).

There were many superb individual achievements, most notably Randy Johnson's perfect game against Atlanta in 2004 and his four consecutive Cy Young awards, Luis Gonzalez's 57 home runs in 2001 and 30-game hitting streak in 1999, and Brandon Webb's Cy Young in 2006.

It was also a period of change in which the franchise's founding father, Chief Executive Officer Jerry Colangelo, left the organization, and an ownership team headed by managing general partners Ken Kendrick and Jeffrey Moorad took control in 2004, and Joe Garagiola Sr., the architect of the team's early success, left for a post with Major League Baseball and was replaced by Josh Byrnes as Senior Vice President and General Manager in 2005.

It was, in short, a 10-year span that was decidedly anything but dull.

Of course, although the D-backs are 10 years old as a competitive entity, they were actually born 13 years ago on March 13, 1995, when Major League Baseball awarded franchises to Arizona and Tampa Bay at a record cost of $130 million per franchise.

And the foundation for the Valley's entry into MLB had actually been laid five years before that when the Arizona Legislature passed a bill authorizing Maricopa County to assess a quarter-cent sales tax for the express purpose of building a baseball-only facility.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for an air conditioned $354 million downtown structure complete with retractable roof, swimming pool in right field, and nostalgic dirt path between the mound and home plate were held Nov. 16, 1995 and included the novelty of an actual game between two Little League teams on a specially built kids-size field.

With Opening Day still some three years away, Buck Showalter, late of the New York Yankees, was hired as the team's first manager.

The assembling of the team officially began with the selection of left-handed pitcher Nick Bierbrodt in the team's first-ever amateur draft in 1996, and the signings of first baseman Travis Lee and pitcher John Patterson.

Shortly thereafter, infielder Jay Bell of the Kansas City Royals became the first Major League player to sign with the team, and lefthander Brian Anderson of the Cleveland Indians was the first player chosen by the team in the expansion draft.

Finally, the big day everybody had been waiting for arrived — March 31, 1998, Opening Night at Bank One Ballpark!

Opening ceremonies included a tribute to the late Jackie Robinson, and two youngsters escorted to the mound by Colangelo threw out the first ball. One of the loudest cheers of the night from the overflow crowd of 50,179 was for the opening of the roof to the accompaniment of stirring music.

The Colorado Rockies were the parties of the second part, Andy Benes was the D-backs' starting pitcher, and Lee got the team's first hit and also hit the team's first home run.

This was the start of a great "honeymoon" for the team, and nobody was the least bit surprised or even slightly bothered when it lost 31 of its first 40 games.

And it's not like there weren't any highlights. Centerfielder Devon White drove in 85 runs, stole 22 bases, and tied with Lee for the club lead in home runs with 22, and Benes won 14 games.

Omar Daal was only 8-12 but had a fine 2.88 ERA, and Gregg Olson's 30 saves earned him club

Pitcher of the Year honors. Also, David Dellucci, who quickly became a fan favorite with his acrobatic catches in the outfield, hit a solid .260.

As a team the D-backs finished strong, playing .500 ball over the final 24 games, including an expansion record-tying seven-game winning streak in September, and finished at 65-97, which left them last in the NL West, but was quite respectable for an expansion team.

The club also had 21 sellouts and drew 3,602,586 fans, and everybody went home for the winter happy with the team's first season.

However, while it was a success by expansion standards, it fell short of Colangelo's, and he decided to scrap his original five-year plan in favor of a win-now plan. And the results were, to say the least, spectacular and unprecedented in the annals of newborn baseball teams.

During the offseason the D-backs went on a spending spree that netted pitchers Randy Johnson, Armando Reynoso, and Greg Swindell, and center fielder Steve Finley. Garagiola acquired Gonzalez and Tony Womack in trades that turned out to be steals. And during the season he reeled in Marlins closer Matt Mantei.

Gonzalez, who came over from Detroit with a nice chunk of cash in exchange for outfielder Karim Garcia, would become the face of the franchise and deliver the winning hit off closer Mariano Rivera in Game 7 of the 2001 World Series. And Womack would have some good years here and deliver two of the biggest hits in franchise history in the playoffs that year.

But the rest, as they say, is history.

Johnson was 15-2 with a 2.01 ERA at the All-Star Break in 1999, went on to lead the Majors in strikeouts (364) and complete games, and would go on to win 17 games and the first of his four Cy Young Awards here while posting a 2.48 ERA.

Gonzalez, meanwhile, had one of several career years he would fashion with the D-backs, hitting .336, with 26 home runs and 111 RBI, and putting together that hitting streak.

And he had plenty of help. Matt Williams hit 35 home runs and had 142 runs batted in, Bell was good for 38 and 112, and Dellucci hit .374 in a utility role. Womack stole 72 bases while hitting .277, Daal won 16 games, Reynoso added 10, and Mantei saved 22 while striking out 42 in 29 innings as the D-backs went from 65 wins to 100 to take the West by a landslide.

They lost their first playoff game ever to the New York Mets, 8-4, but came back behind some gutsy pitching by Stottlemire and five RBI by Finley to win Game 2 here, 7-1. With the Division Series moving to New York, the Mets won Game 3, 9-2, and Todd Pratt hit a 10th inning home run just over Finley's outstretched glove to close out the series with a 4-3 win.

The 2000 campaign was most notable for another great award-winning season from Johnson and the in-season acquisition of pitcher Curt Schilling. Although the Phillies ace wasn't fully recovered from injuries, he still went 5-6 the balance of the year here, and of course teamed with Johnson to form one of the most potent one-two punches ever.

As for Johnson, he again led the Majors in strikeouts (347) and tied for the league lead in complete games (eight), shutouts (three), and starts (35) while putting together a 19-7 record and 2.64 ERA.

Gonzalez did his bit, hitting 31 home runs and again driving in over 100, but otherwise, due mostly to a series of injuries, especially to slugger Williams and closer Mantei, the D-backs had a 15-victory drop off and slipped to third in the West.

The disappointing season led to the dismissal of Showalter, with Bob Brenly coming down from the broadcast booth to take over as manager — and the stage was set for one of the greatest seasons in the history of Arizona sports.

There will never be another year like 2001. This is not to say the D-backs will never win another World Series, but rather that there will never be an experience as exhilarating as that first one, especially when you factor in the Yankees, the grim background of Sept. 11, and the dramatic twists and turns of the series itself.

The regular season was exciting enough, what with Gonzalez hitting those 57 home runs and driving in 142, Johnson racking up a third-straight Cy Young Award with 21-6 mark and a 2.49 ERA and Schilling going 22-6 and 2.98. Craig Counsell emerged as the team's "glue" man, Reggie Sanders provided a big-time power boost with 33 home runs, and Mark Grace hit .296 and played some brilliant first base.

Danny Bautista slides head-first at home plate on Tony Womack's game-ending single that staked the D-backs to a 2-1 victory over the Cardinals, propelling Arizona into the NLCS against Atlanta.

Craig Counsell, Curt Schilling and David Dellucci surround Luis Gonzalez after his game-winning hit to end the World Series against the Yankees

But the fun was just beginning.

The D-backs took out the St. Louis Cardinals in the Division Series, with Womack delivering the key hit in Game 5, then blew the Atlanta Braves away in five games in the Championship Series.

And now it was the upstart D-backs, who were all of four years old, against the lords of the realm, the Yankees.

Schilling and the upstarts overpowered the Yankees 9-1 in Game 1 here, and won Game 2 behind Johnson 4-0.

With the series shifting to Yankee Stadium in the very shadow of Ground Zero, the "aura" and "mystique" of the Bombers that Schilling had poked fun at seemed to kick in.

The Yanks won Game 3 in fairly routine fashion, 2-1, behind Roger Clemens and Mariano Rivera, but the next night, with the Yanks down 3-1 and two out in the ninth, Tino Martínez hit a two-run home run off Byung-Hyun Kim, and Derek Jeter drove in the winning run with a fly ball in the 10th.

The following night, with the series tied at 2-2 the Yanks went into the ninth down 2-0. This time Scott Brosius hit a two-run home run off Kim, the Yanks survived a bases loaded situation in the top of the 11th and Alfonso Soriano drove in the winning run in the bottom of the 12th to send the series back to Phoenix with the Yanks leading 3-2.

Could anything top the drama in New York? Well, yes it could, but not right away.

Behind Johnson, the D-backs blew Andy Pettitte and the Yankees away 15-2 in Game 6, sort of the lull between dramas, as it were.

In Game 7, Schilling and the D-backs clung to a 1-0 lead over Clemens and the Yankees through six innings on Danny Bautista's RBI double, but Martínez tied it with an RBI single in the seventh, and when Soriano led off the eighth with a home run the Yanks took a one-run lead that loomed as large as 10 with Rivera and his 23 straight postseason saves warming up in the bullpen.

But Grace opened the home ninth with a single, and the usually smooth fielding Rivera threw wildly to second on a sacrifice. One out later, Womack lined a double into the right field corner to drive in the tying run and advance the potential winning run to third.

Counsell was hit by a pitch to load the bases, and with the infield drawn in Gonzalez hit a soft little bloop that barely reached the outfield grass, Bell scored and pandemonium ensued.

The D-backs were world champions, and fittingly, the winning pitcher — working in relief with just one day of rest — was Johnson. It was his third win of the Series, and earned him co-MVP honors with Schilling.

With the Big Unit and Schilling at their peak, the D-backs seemed to be favorably positioned for a repeat.

And indeed, the D-backs won six more games in 2002 than they had the previous year and claimed their third division title in five years, with Johnson going 21-6 and annexing a fourth straight Cy Young Award, and Schilling going 22-6.

But injuries, including the late season loss of Gonzalez, left the depleted D-backs in no shape to deal with the Cardinals, who swept them in the Division Series. And it would be four years before the D-backs got back to the postseason again.

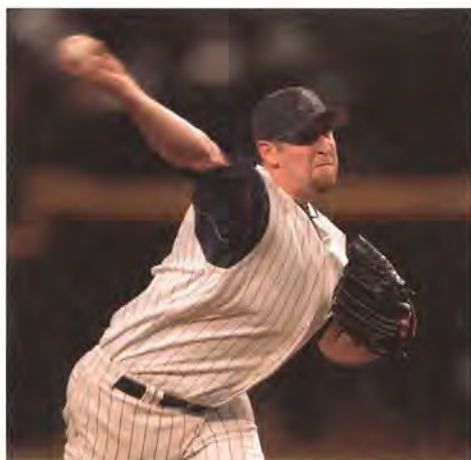

The injury-driven downward spiral continued in 2003, only more swiftly. Johnson went down on April 12 with a knee problem that would require surgery and limit him to 18 starts. Schilling had an appendectomy in April, broke a bone in his pitching hand in May and wound up making only 24 starts, and relievers Mike Koplove and Mantei also went down.

And that was just the pitchers. Among position players, Counsell missed two months with a thumb injury.

But while the victory total shrunk to 84, there was a silver lining in all these clouds, namely the birth of the "Baby Backs," a rich harvest from a once-scorned system that was quietly sowing the seeds bumper crop after bumper crop of prospects down on the farm.

Pitchers Brandon Webb and Jose Valverde topped a list of 13 rookies that played for the big club that year. Webb had 10-9 record with a 2.84 ERA and opposing hitters batted only .212 against him, the third best figure in the National League. Valverde took up some of the slack in the depleted bullpen, racking up nine saves in May alone. And another reliever, Oscar Villarreal, set a league record for a rookie with 86 appearances.

Infielders Matt Katta and Alex Cintron, and catcher/infielder/outfielder Robby Hammock also had impressive debuts. Also on the plus side, Gonzalez once again drove in 100 runs and hit 26 home runs, Finley had 22 home runs and Shea Hillenbrand had 17 after coming over from Boston in a trade for Kim.

The year also marked the departure of fan favorites Dellucci (trade), and Williams and Grace (retirements).

The downward spiral hit warp speed in 2004 when so many players went down with injuries, the club fielded its least experienced team since expansion, and not surprisingly lost 111 games.

One of the biggest single blows was the loss of slugger Richie Sexson. Two days after hitting a massive 503-foot home run in April, Sexson dislocated his left shoulder and was done for the year. The biggest loss, of course, was Schilling, who had been dealt to Boston in the offseason.

Gonzalez played hurt much of the year, but was finally shut down Aug. 2 with a painful elbow injury that required surgery.

But there were slivers of a silver lining even in this cloud, most notably Johnson's perfect game in Atlanta. He finished the season 16-14 and was second in the Cy Young race behind Clemens, though Johnson had better numbers in ERA (2.60 to 2.98), innings pitched (246 to 214) and strikeouts (290 to 218).

With the team in free-fall, Brenly was replaced as manager by Al Pedrique, and in an even more dramatic change, Colangelo announced he was stepping down and would be replaced by Moorad.

With Josh Byrnes installed as General Manager, and former bench coach Bob Melvin rejoining the team as manager, the upward spiral began in 2005. Schilling and Johnson were gone, but Gonzalez and Counsell were healthy again, Tony Clark had a sensational year with 30 home runs and 87 RBI in just 349 at bats, Troy Glaus hit 37 home runs and the club recorded a 26-win improvement at 77-85.

The upward spiral hit a slight hiccup in 2006, an emotional year of transition in which the D-backs said a painful goodbye to veterans like Gonzalez and Counsell, and symbolically handed the torch to the what was hoped — and would turn out to be — next generation of winners.

Webb had quite a year, fashioning a 16-8 record with a 3.10 ERA, making the All-Star team, and capping it off by winning the Cy Young Award.

In 2007 the D-backs fooled the experts who, while lauding the team's collection of young talent, felt it was a year away from contender status in the West. Oh, how wrong they were.

The D-backs not only won 90 games and captured their fourth division title, but they did it while becoming only the fifth team in Major League history to reach the playoffs while giving up more runs than they scored in the regular season.

In other words, this was a season in which the sum of their accomplishments exceeded their statistical parts — a development which had the cognoscenti shaking their heads all year.

Sparkplugs Eric Byrnes and Orlando Hudson were the leaders of a group that had a knack for getting the right hit and making the big play, and with 32 home runs and 27 stolen bases, center fielder Chris Young became the only second rookie in Major League history to have a 30-20 season.

Rookie Mark Reynolds did a great job filling in for the injured Chad Tracy, Webb made a strong run at a second successive Cy Young Award (18-10, 3.01), shortstop Stephen Drew had a more productive year than his .238 average would indicate and Micah Owings had an outstanding year both on the mound and at the plate.

Veterans Doug Davis and Livan Hernandez had so-so ERAs, but won 24 games between them, and the bullpen, with Valverde racking up 47 saves and Brandon Lyon and Tony Pena pitching effectively in setup roles, was one of the team's keys to winning so many close games.

Although they fell to the Rockies in the NLCS after sweeping the Chicago Cubs in the Division Series, the youth-oriented D-backs more than lived up to expectations and should be contenders for the foreseeable future. And the pipeline that produced all this young talent is by no means drying up.

The D-backs had many reasons to celebrate in 2007, including this walk-off home run on June 5 against the Giants.

Managing General Partner

A charter member of the ownership group that brought baseball to the Valley of the Sun, Ken Kendrick's involvement in the general partnership took on added significance in 2004 when he assumed the role of Managing General Partner. Kendrick has taken an active role within the organization, representing the ownership group in the day-to-day operation of the organization and also representing the Diamondbacks when Major League Baseball owners convene during the course of the year.

After receiving a B.S. in Business Administration from West Virginia University in 1965, Kendrick started his career with IBM in Baltimore. Three years later, he founded Datatel, Inc., which became the industry leader in the development of software for the management of infrastructure technology for colleges and universities. Today, Kendrick remains semi-active in the operation of Datatel, serving as chairman of the Datatel Scholars Foundation, which provides college scholarships to students throughout the U.S. and Canada.

As Datatel continued to grow and prosper in the 1980s, Kendrick stepped down from the daily oversight of the company to explore new business opportunities. He served as President of a Texas-based banking technology company for four years in the 1980s until it was purchased by a subsidiary of General Motors. In 1989, Kendrick invested in a community bank – Woodforest National Bank – in The Woodlands, Texas, which now is one of the largest employee-owned banks in the U.S. Kendrick also owns the Bumble Bee Ranch, which includes more than 74,000 acres for horseback riding, cattle driving, off-road and helicopter tours and overnight facilities which are devoted to supporting charities that provide services to children throughout Arizona.

Consistent with the charitable ways of the D-backs organization, Kendrick is very active in his charity and philanthropic endeavors, beginning with his role as Chairman of the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation. He and his wife, Randy, were the 2007 Living and Giving Honorees for the Desert Southwest Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation. He also serves as a director for various charities including Childhelp USA, Helping Hands Housing, Challenger Center for Space Science Education, Phoenix Country Day School, TGen Foundation, Cleveland Clinic Foundation and Roaring Fork Conservancy.

A native of Princeton, W.Va., Kendrick is an alumnus of West Virginia University in Morgantown and sits on the Board of Directors for the university's WVU Foundation. He and his wife have established a program at WVU's College of Business and Economics focused on free-market research. Kendrick also supported the construction of the Donald J. Brohard Hall of Traditions, which provides a first-class showcase for the tradition of Mountaineer football and serves as a recruiting focal point at WVU. In November 2006, Kendrick was one of four industry leaders with strong ties to West Virginia that was inducted into the state's Business Hall of Fame.

Ken and his wife, Randy, and their two children, Cal and Catie, make their home in Paradise Valley.

JEFF MOORAD

General Partner & Chief Executive Officer

One of the most recognizable names in professional sports, Jeff Moorad brought over 20 years of sports industry experience to Arizona in August 2004, when he was named a member of the executive team of the Arizona Diamondbacks. The career change was finalized when the Office of the Commissioner formally approved Moorad as an owner and General Partner in the D-backs' ownership group. Armed with a wealth of experience in Major League Baseball on the player side of the table, Moorad is now the spokesman for the D-backs' ownership group, as well as overseeing along with Ken Kendrick the day-to-day operations of the franchise.

Moorad brings a unique perspective and sports business acumen to the D-backs, and is committed to bringing the fans of Arizona a championship team and a consistent winning product. Equally important to Moorad, is the strong desire to build upon the organization's reputation in the community as positive and active leaders and contributors.

The founder of Moorad Sports Management, he began specializing in athlete representation in 1983, with his main focus on Major League Baseball. Moorad's reputation as a knowledgeable and respected negotiator has earned him a spot on The Sporting News' 100 Most Powerful People in Sports on eight occasions, as he helped revolutionize player representation.

Moorad's client base took off in 1984 when he was retained by Will Clark and four other members of the U.S. Olympic baseball team, each of whom were Top 10 draft choices. He then joined forces with Leigh Steinberg in 1985 to form one of the most dynamic twosomes in the history of sports representation, covering both Major League Baseball and the National Football League. The successful duo negotiated over $3 billion in athlete contracts throughout their 18 years together, including representing Pro Football Hall of Famers Steve Young, Troy Aikman, Warren Moon and Thurman Thomas.

Moorad was the negotiator on a number of landmark contracts for a baseball client base that included Manny Ramirez, Eric Karros, Ivan Rodriguez, Mo Vaughn, Shawn Green and Raul Mondesi, just to scratch the surface of All-Star talent he represented. He also represented former D-backs' player Matt Williams, who joined Clark in spring training with the D-backs as on-field advisors. Moorad represented more than 40 first-round selections from baseball's annual First Year Player Draft in his practice, highlighted by breakthrough deals for No. 1 overall selections Pat Burrell (1998) and Darin Erstad (1995), both draft records at the time.

While sports representation occupied the majority of Moorad's professional time, it also led to work in the entertainment field as he has consulted and appeared in major motion picture projects involving sports. He was the baseball technical consultant for the Universal motion picture "For Love of the Game" and had a cameo appearance in the movie, and then he and former partner Steinberg both appeared in and served as technical consultants to director Cameron Crowe in the 1996 Oscar-winning picture "Jerry Maguire."

The former President and CEO of Moorad Sports Management, his firm did not stop at athlete representation as Moorad guided it into a variety of sports ventures, publishing projects and charitable community projects. Consistent with his civic commitment, Moorad helped his clients understand the responsibility of serving as role models in the community, encouraging them to contribute millions of dollars to community programs, including their own non-profit foundations and alma maters. Leading by example, Moorad endowed a $100,000 scholarship to his alma mater at UCLA. He and his wife, Jan, were also the honorary chairpersons for Childhelp USA's Childhelp Drive the Dream Gala. He has also been very active in the California Coast and Arizona Chapters of the Young Presidents' Organization (YPO), a worldwide peer network that creates better Presidents and CEOs through education and idea exchange.

Moorad is also very active in helping raise funds to find a cure for amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, more commonly known as Lou Gehrig's Disease, through Augie's Quest. The foundation is named after his good friend Augie Nieto, who was diagnosed with ALS in 2005 after he became one of the most successful innovators in the U.S. fitness industry as the founder, Chairman and CEO of Life Fitness. Moorad helped link Augie's Quest to the Muscular Dystrophy Association as well as assist in fast-track research funding at Phoenix-based Translational Genomics Research Institute (TGen), where scientists have already made significant research breakthroughs in less than three years.

Moorad currently serves on the Board of Directors for Citizen Sports Network, a sports entertainment company committed to reshaping the way people think about sports through social networking and its unique virtual sports stock market. He also is on the Board of Directors for TGen and is a Vice President for MDA.

Moorad recently ventured into the sport of auto racing, purchasing controlling interest in Hall of Fame Racing from Roger Staubach and Aikman. The Charlotte, N.C.-based team fields the No. 96 DLP HDTV car in the NASCAR Sprint Cup Series that will be driven by Phoenix-native J.J. Yeley in 2008.

A native of Modesto, Calif., Moorad earned an Associate in Arts degree from Modesto Junior College in 1976, where he served as Student Body President, a degree in Political Science (B.A.) in 1978 from UCLA, then received his law degree from Villanova University School of Law (J.D.) in 1981. Jeff and his wife have three sons and reside in Paradise Valley.

MIKE CHIPMAN

General Partner

Mike Chipman is one of the five general partners who possess the largest financial stake in the franchise, and while he takes a low-profile approach to his role, his business acumen is invaluable when the partners assemble to make executive decisions regarding the shaping of the D-backs.

A graduate from the U.S. Air Force Academy with a degree in Computer Science, Chipman spent five years in the basic research arm of the Air Force, attaining the rank of Captain before resigning his commission to pursue a career in civilian life. He spent the next few years as a research scientist working in the area of computational physics, principally at Science Application International in La Jolla, Calif.

Chipman then made a huge impact in the computer software industry in the early 1980s when he became an investor and founder of Chipsoft, Inc., the original owner and developer of Turbo Tax, the leading income tax preparation software program for consumers and small businesses. Chipman served as President and Chief Executive Officer of Chipsoft until 1993, when Chipsoft and Turbo Tax were sold to Intuit, Inc. Chipsoft grew from a spare room operation in the Chipman's home to a 550-person public company by the time he retired at age 45.

Since retirement, Chipman has invested in various businesses principally through an Investment Angels group. Chipman has recently had a hand in the development of the highly successful Bank of Internet USA and has been involved as an investor with other banks in Northern Nevada. He has been an owner of commercial real estate in Arizona for more than a decade during which time he became one of the primary investors in the D-backs.

Chipman and his wife, Evy, make their home in Lake Tahoe, Nev., where he has built a model railroad, complete with nearly 1,700 trees, a project that has kept him busier than he even imagined. The Chipmans spend a lot of "baseball time" locally in Paradise Valley after having wintered in Carefree for 10 years. Chipman's son, Michael, and wife, Erin, are the parents of the first grandchild, Owen.

DALE JENSEN

General Partner

Dale Jensen is the largest single investor of the Arizona Diamondbacks, a position in which he's very familiar since he is also an investor in over 45 other companies.

Jensen is also a big investor into the revitalization of downtown Phoenix. He is a part owner of the Phoenix Suns, Alice Cooper'stown Restaurant near Chase Field and the Dodge Theater. He is also a key principal in the proposed Jackson Street Entertainment District, which would cut a path across the southern end of downtown, stretching from Central Avenue to Chase Field. The entertainment district would include 300,000 square feet of office space, more than 1,000 housing units, a hotel, courtyards and paseos that are permanently closed to vehicular traffic, and at least 450,000 square feet of entertainment and retail space.

Jensen began his professional career at the tender age of 23, serving as the youngest Vice President of The National Bank of Commerce. After three years, Jensen co-founded Information Technology, revolutionizing the banking industry with computer software and solutions during the infancy of the computer era, and later sold the company for $383 million in 1996. Among his subsequent holdings in technology and entertainment, Jensen is among a quartet of principal investors in M101, a new entertainment entity that delivers high definition, highly produced visual content focused on music, as well as delving into film and television production branding.

A Nebraska native, Jensen's holdings also include Superior Shores Lodge in Two Harbors, Minn., the Sands Hill Golf Club near Mullen, Neb., and Alive Spirits, a company that co-brands celebrities and liquor.

Jensen, who spent 1968-70 at the University of Nebraska before joining the National Guard during the Vietnam War, was a major contributor to the renovation of the university's Andersen Hall, the journalism and mass communications building and has endowed the Dale M. Jensen chairs in math and computer science at Nebraska. He is a large donor to Nebraska's athletic department, attends every home football game at Memorial Stadium and also owns a part of Pinnacle Sports, which has the radio rights to all Cornhusker sports events.

Jensen is also very active in a broad spectrum of philanthropy, not the least of which is donating money and time to find a cure for cystic fibrosis. He is a member of the Boomer Esiason Foundation's Board of Directors and was an Esiason Foundation MVP in 1997 after helping the former NFL quarterback, who's son Gunnar has cystic fibrosis, raise funds to find a cure.

Jensen and his wife, Vicki, make their home in Paradise Valley. He has a son, Christopher, who has followed him into the field of technology.

JEFF ROYER
General Partner

Jeff Royer's family is an original founding investor in the Arizona Diamondbacks, and Royer's involvement has grown to become a member of the General Partnership. Royer's love for baseball began in his youth as a devoted fan of Warren Spahn, the record-setting left-handed pitcher of the Milwaukee Braves. In the Wisconsin town where he grew up, work schedules were often made around the Braves' game schedule. He learned at a young age that baseball would be his primary sports interest.

Royer's business career began in investment banking. Since the late 1980s, Royer's work has focused on private equity investing but the primary focus of his business interests is telecommunications. His private and public investments include Galtronics Ltd., an antenna company, and Shaw Communications, a Canadian cable and satellite company.

Jeff, his wife, and family are all devotees of the game and spend as much time in Phoenix as possible. He makes his residence in Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

DERRICK HALL
President

Developing under the O'Malley family ownership of the Los Angeles Dodgers as a young executive in the 1990s, Derrick Hall learned the value of taking care of the team's fans and creating culture throughout the organization while striving to put a competitive team on the field on an annual basis. Now, as President of the Arizona Diamondbacks, Hall stands out among his peers within the sports industry with his exceptional people skills to communicate with the team's dedicated fan base and by preaching the core values he established to employees throughout the D-backs organization.

Hall, who was named President on Sept. 6, 2006, routinely communicates with fans as part of his "one fan at a time" concept by answering every letter, email or phone call. He also conducts monthly chats on the Internet and spends most of his time at home games communicating with the fans in the stands to ensure their fan experience at Chase Field is exceptional. Hall also developed mission and values statements for all employees, including a "Circle of Success" to focus the organization's efforts on fan experience, performance, community, culture and financial efficiency. He also holds President's Roundtable meetings with employees and formed a President's Council, comprised of select members of the executive management team and a rotating committee consisting of the organization's Employee of the Month winners, to organize numerous company events to enhance the culture through the company. The organization's investment into its employees resulted in the D-backs being named one of the "Best Places to Work" in Phoenix by the Phoenix Business Journal and BestCompaniesAZ in 2007, becoming the first sports organization to win such an honor.

Hall has also been invaluable in the community re-establishing relationships with civic leaders and serving on the board of the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation, which raised $3.5 million in 2007 to be given back to non-profit organizations throughout Arizona. In addition to the team's annual giving in 2007, he and the ownership group to donated $5 from every ticket sold during the final five weeks of the season that resulted in $622,000 being donated to 27 children's charities throughout Arizona with the help of the United Way. Hall also established a first-of-its-kind season ticket scholarship plan for fans or existing season ticket holders who may have experienced a change in personal circumstances or who could demonstrate financial need that resulted in seven families being given full season tickets on the lower level at Chase Field for the 2008 season.

Hall is also a member of The Thunderbirds, the Phoenix Pride Commission for the City of Phoenix, ad hoc committees for the ASU Alumni Association and ASU Athletic Director, Phoenix Children's Hospital's strategic marketing committee, UMOM and was the 2006-07 Honorary Chairman for the Big Brothers Big Sisters of Central Arizona's annual campaign as well as the Honorary Host of the 2007 ASU Founder's Day. He is an active member of the Ohio University Sports Administration Alumni Advisory Board and is very active with charitable organizations by serving on the following Boards: Arizona State University Foundation Board of Trustees, Greater Phoenix Chamber of Commerce, Greater Phoenix Convention and Visitors Bureau, Downtown Phoenix Partnerships, US Airways Education Foundation, Valley of the Sun United Way, United Blood Services, Baseball Professional Scouts Foundation, Arizona Foundation for Women's "Men's Anti-Violence Network," Phoenix Community Alliance, Arizona Science Center, Arizona Mexico Commission, Phoenix Police Reserve Foundation and the Brandon Webb's K Foundation.

For his many accomplishments within the sports industry, Hall was recently named to the SportsBusiness Journal's prestigious "Forty Under 40" class in 2008. In 2007, Hall was named the "Father of the Year" for Arizona through the American Diabetes Association, was the recipient of the "Al Molina Community Lifeline Award" from Teen Lifeline and was named to Phoenix Business Journal's annual "Forty Under 40" list.

Hall originally joined the D-backs on May 23, 2005 as Senior Vice President, Communications. After he took on various marketing-related responsibilities in December 2005 as Senior Vice President, Marketing and Communications, he put together a multi-million dollar, long-term marketing partnership with the Gila River Indian Community that became Arizona's first-ever presenting sponsor for a sports franchise when the team announced all aspects of the organization would be presented by Gila River Casinos beginning in 2006. He also was promoted to Executive Vice President mid-way through the 2006 season before taking over the day-to-day lead of the organization as President.

Prior to joining the D-backs, Hall made a brief stop as Senior Vice President, Corporate Communications for KB Home, a Fortune 500 company based in Los Angeles, where he increased the brand awareness of the nation's fifth-largest homebuilder by getting coverage in mainstream outlets like Newsweek, BusinessWeek, Time, Life, U.S. News & World Report, Money, USA Today and The Wall Street Journal as well as on television shows such as "Access Hollywood" and "Extreme Makeover: Home Edition."

Hall spent parts of 12 seasons with the Los Angeles Dodgers, joining the organization's Single-A Florida State League affiliate in Vero Beach, Fla., in 1992 and departing as the club's Senior Vice President, Communications in 2004. In between, he was a strategic communications specialist that served key roles during three ownership changes with the Dodgers and was recognized for reuniting Fernando Valenzuela with the organization after hiring him as a color analyst for the team's Spanish radio broadcasts in 2003. Known as an industry-wide specialist in strategic communications, Hall spent a great deal of time on image building, media training, brand promoting, pro-active story pitching and crisis management, and taught a sports public relations class at the University of Southern California. Hall stepped outside of baseball for employment during the 1999 season, first as a member of the media as a host for a three-hour morning talk show on the Dodgers' flagship station (XTRA 1150 AM) and as host of the "Dodger Game Day" pre-game radio show when the team played at Dodger Stadium. He also had a stint in front of the camera as a fill-in sports anchor at KNBC-TV Channel 4 in Los Angeles.

Hall received a bachelor's degree from Arizona State University, where he was named "Man of the Year" in 1991, in broadcasting and journalism and a master's degree from Ohio University in sports administration. In 2002, he was inducted into the ASU Walter Cronkite School of Journalism and Mass Communications Alumni Hall of Fame and was awarded the ASU Young Alumni Achievement Award in 2003. In 2006, Ohio University's Sports Administration Program awarded Hall as the 25th recipient of the Charles R. Higgins Distinguished Alumnus Award.

JOSH BYRNES

Executive Vice President & General Manager

In only his second season after being named General Manager in October 2005, Josh Byrnes was the architect of an Arizona Diamondbacks team that led the National League with a 90-72 record in 2007 despite having the fifth-lowest payroll in Major League Baseball. The D-backs surprised many last season by winning the National League West Championship in a competitive division that was the first in the Wild Card era (1995-present) to have four teams finish with winning records and two teams eventually meet in the League Championship Series.

The D-backs remarkable season came only three years after leading MLB with 111 losses in 2004, tying three other teams (2006 Tigers, 1991 Braves, 1996 Padres) in baseball history to make the playoffs within three years of having a 100-plus loss season.

Much like 2007, the 2008 D-backs roster should feature half or more homegrown players. Byrnes and his staff have perpetuated the commitment to scouting and player development and built a roster with youth, stability, and deep roots organizationally.

Byrnes began his front office career in 1994 as the Cleveland Indians were moving into then-Jacobs Field (now Progressive Field). In his time with the Indians, Byrnes performed a myriad of duties (advance scouting, contract research and preparation, pro scouting) before being named Director of Scouting in 1998. During Byrnes' stint in Cleveland, the Indians broke a 41-year playoff drought and won five consecutive American League Central titles.

In the fall of 1999, Byrnes followed Dan O'Dowd to Colorado as the Assistant General Manager of the Rockies. During his three years in Colorado, Byrnes assisted O'Dowd on all Major League transactions and also was involved in the club's scouting and development operations.

After the 2002 season, Byrnes accepted the Assistant General Manager position with the Boston Red Sox. Working with Theo Epstein, Byrnes assisted in all Major League personnel and contractual issues and continued an active role in all scouting matters. During Byrnes' three years in Boston, the Red Sox won at least 95 games each year, participated in the playoffs each year and ended the franchise's 86-year championship drought with a World Series title in 2004.

During his previous stints with the other three teams in the 2007 League Championship Series, Byrnes was involved in the drafting of CC Sabathia, Jeff Francis, Garrett Atkins, Brad Hawpe, Jonathan Papelbon, Dustin Pedroia, and Jacoby Ellsbury.

Originally from Washington, D.C., Byrnes attended Haverford College in Pennsylvania, establishing school career records for home runs and RBI (since broken). Currently, Byrnes and his wife, Charity, reside in Phoenix with their daughters Avery and Darby.

TOM GARFINKEL

Executive Vice President & Chief Operating Officer

In his first full-season in Major League Baseball in 2007 as the Arizona Diamondbacks' Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer, Tom Garfinkel led a team that grew the organization's revenue by 8% from the previous year by developing new sales techniques within the corporate partnership and ticket sales departments while also enhancing the team's brand within the marketplace and throughout the sports industry. He also established new human resources and information technology departments and led the organization's first strategic planning process to better position the team for future success.

The growth the club saw in total attendance in 2007 can be partly attributed to a 14% increase in single-game ticket sales, 63% increase in group sales revenue and a 22% increase in suite sales revenue. The group and suite sales totals were both record departmental revenues in the 10-year history of the franchise. The club also shifted its philosophy under Garfinkel's direction to reduce marketing clutter around the ballpark and developed rewarding relationships with its corporate partners, resulting in a $3 million increase to the team's sponsorship revenues in 2007. Furthermore, the D-backs developed a marketing campaign and brand positioning for the future that is focused on the fan experience and exciting moments at the ballpark, reminding fans what is special and unique about baseball. Garfinkel was also the leading force to make the innovative and less expensive decision to bypass companies that specialize in athletic facilities and commission Target Commercial Interiors, a subsidiary company of the retail store chain Target, to value engineer the rebranding of Chase Field after the 2006 season.

Garfinkel originally joined the organization as Senior Vice President, Strategic and Corporate Development in May 2006 and was later promoted to Executive Vice President, Business Operations, and then again to his current position of Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer, where he oversees all marketing and branding, communications, ticket sales, corporate partnerships, strategic planning, human resources and information technology.

Prior to joining the D-backs, Garfinkel spent five years with Chip Ganassi Racing Teams, joining the company in 2001 as Vice President and leaving in 2006 as Executive Vice President overseeing all business operations of the 400-employee company. He negotiated more than $500 million in sponsorship and driver contracts that resulted in a 280 percent increase of annual company revenue during his tenure with the company. While at Chip Ganassi Racing Teams, the company won two championships and grew to include three NASCAR Nextel Cup teams, one Busch Series team, two IndyCar teams and one Grand-Am team.

Garfinkel returned to his auto racing roots in September 2007 when he and D-backs General Partner and CEO Jeff Moond purchased controlling interest in Hall of Fame Racing from NFL Hall of Famers Roger Staubach and Troy Aikman. The team fields the No. 96 DLP HDTV car in the NASCAR Sprint Cup Series driven by Phoenix-native JJ. Yeley.

Garfinkel's background also includes time at Texaco, Inc., where he managed their sponsorships and corporate branding department, and at Miller Brewing Company in strategic marketing and sales. Additionally, he has consulted on projects for Nike, Coca-Cola and Dell Computer Corp. He sits on the Board of Directors of Phoenix Youth at Risk and as an adjunct Board Member of Magee Women's hospital of UPMC. Garfinkel also proudly serves as an Honorary Commander at Luke Air Force Base.

Garfinkel earned a B.A. from the University of Colorado, Boulder, and an M.B.A. from the Ross School of Business at the University of Michigan. He and his wife, Allison, reside in Paradise Valley with their sons, Harrison and Jackson.

TOM HARRIS

Executive Vice President & Chief Financial Officer

As Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, Tom Harris oversees all general accounting, finance, administrative activities and ensures operations are in accordance with ownership goals and objectives. He also supervises risk management and legal obligations for the team. He was promoted to his current position in October 2006 after serving as Senior Vice President, Finance since May 2005.

Harris originally joined the D-backs as Vice President, Finance in July 1995 after leaving the Phoenix Suns and America West Arena, where he was the Financial Controller of the arena for two years. Prior to entering the sports industry, he was employed by Gene A. Schwarzkopf, CPA, Ltd. for three years. Harris earned a B.A. in accounting from Arizona State University, where he also earned his Master's degree in taxation. He began his professional career in 1985 at Arthur Andersen & Co.

Harris serves on the Board of Directors for the Arizona Chamber of Commerce, is a member of The Thunderbirds and was inducted into the ASU School of Business Hall of Fame in 2005. A native of Winslow, Ariz., Harris and his wife, Kathleen, reside in Phoenix with their children, Sean, Sarah, Kelly and Katie.

DIANNE AGUILAR

Senior Vice President, Community Affairs and Ballpark Attractions

As one of the original front-office executives of the Arizona Diamondbacks organization, Dianne Aguilar has transitioned from carrying the responsibility of ensuring that all D-backs fans purchasing tickets to games at Chase Field receive exemplary service to making sure the organization upholds its reputation within the sports industry by establishing community programs and giving back to non-profit groups throughout Arizona.

Through Aguilar's leadership of the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation, which she serves as Executive Director, the club raised $3.5 million during the 2007 season to be given back to the community, a figure that is more than all professional sports teams in Arizona combined. Since its inception in 1997, the Foundation has donated more than $13.5 million to focus on homelessness, indigent healthcare and youth education programs of all types. With its "Diamonds Back" Field Building program, the Foundation has built or refurbished 26 youth baseball or softball fields throughout Arizona since 2000, including a $3.7 million four-field complex dedicated in 2007 that includes two adaptive fields and two Little League fields for youth experiencing a disability and able-bodied children to play and learn baseball side-by-side.

With more than 30 years of ticketing experience, Aguilar has overseen ticketing operations for an impressive array of sporting events in the Phoenix area prior to joining the D-backs. She supervised ticketing for Arizona State's 1987 Rose Bowl appearance, the 1992 NBA All-Star Game, the 1993 NBA Finals and the opening of the US Airways Center. Aguilar's ticketing career began in the ASU Athletic Ticket Office during her days as a student in 1976, and was later promoted to Ticket Manager while still attending classes at ASU. In 1990, Aguilar was named Ticket Manager for the Phoenix Suns and was later named Director, Ticket Operations when the NBA franchise moved into America West Arena (now US Airways Center) for the 1992-93 season.

Aguilar's favorite sport, baseball, was the one she had not worked and she jumped at the chance to join the D-backs as Vice President, Ticket Operations and Special Services shortly after the franchise was awarded in 1995. Prior to transitioning to her community affairs responsibilities full-time for the 2008 season, she oversaw all ticket operations, suite services and tour departments at Chase Field and made sure the organization is compliant with the American Disabilities Act with handicap accessible seating. Aguilar will continue to oversee the tour departments at Chase Field.

Born in Phoenix and a graduate of both Tempe High School and ASU, Aguilar resides in Tempe.

CULLEN MAXEY

Senior Vice President, Corporate Partnerships & Marketing

Cullen Maxey re-formulated the Arizona Diamondbacks corporate partnerships strategies during the 2007 season and saw unprecedented growth with a $3 million increase to the team's sponsorship revenues after an organizational decision to reduce marketing clutter throughout the ballpark and dedicating his staff to developing rewarding relationships with the club's corporate partners.

As Senior Vice President, Corporate Partnerships and Marketing, Maxey leads the organization's corporate partnerships initiatives to further strengthen relationships with team sponsors as well as develop innovative ideas to bring additional business to the team. Under his direction, the D-backs held the organization's inaugural B2B summit in 2007 to better inform corporate partners how to extend their brands by marketing with the club as well as with other partners of the team.

Maxey joined the D-backs in November 2006 after spending two years as the General Manager of Sun Devil Sports Marketing for CBS Collegiate Sports Properties, the multi-media rights holder of Arizona State University Athletics. At ASU, Maxey managed all business operations, multi-media rights and sales while ASU Athletics saw unprecedented sponsorship revenue growth during his tenure.

Prior to joining ASU Athletics, Maxey served as Vice President, Corporate Sales with the Phoenix Coyotes from 2001-05. During his time with the Coyotes, he was responsible for corporate sponsorship sales and service and was involved in the opening of Glendale Arena as well as its corporate inventory. The Coyotes enjoyed double-digit growth in corporate sales each year under his management. Maxey began his sports career in 1997 with the Phoenix Suns, where he handled advertising sales for team publications prior to moving on to corporate sales and suite sales.

Maxey and his wife, Brenda, have two children, William and Elizabeth, and reside in Chandler

RUSS AMARAL

Vice President, Facilities & Event Services

Russ Amaral has played an integral role in the many cosmetic changes at Chase Field over the last two years as the Arizona Diamondbacks' Vice President, Facilities and Event Services by overseeing construction projects to keep the 10-year-old ballpark up to date with many of the new ballparks and stadiums opening in the market and around the country.

After the 2006 season, Amaral made sure the project with Target Commercial Interiors, a subsidiary company of the retail store chain Target, to value engineer the rebranding of Chase Field was on budget and completed prior to the start of the 2007 season. This past winter, despite a full calendar of offseason events at Chase Field, he oversaw Daktronics' installation of the new 136-foot wide by 46-foot tall video scoreboard in centerfield, which is now one of the world's largest high definition video screens. Over the last two years, the organization also renovated 40 suites on the Insight Diamond Level, demolished three suites to create a social networking area on the Insight Diamond Level, renovated the Strike Zone Lounge behind home plate, created the Miller Lite Diamond Club in right-centerfield and redeveloped numerous seating areas throughout the ballpark.

The 2008 season marks Amaral's 11th season with the D-backs and ninth as Vice President. He oversees all guest-related functions at the ballpark in addition to the engineering, security, operations and groundskeeping departments. Amaral began his career in facility management with the opening of America West Arena (now US Airways Center) in 1992, working in various capacities up to Director, Event Services. In 1997, he was given the opportunity to assist in the final planning and opening operations of Chase Field in 1998. Working for Major League Baseball at the 2000 World Series in New York proved to be valuable experience for the D-backs appearance in the Fall Classic the following season when they defeated the New York Yankees and were crowned World Series Champions.

Amaral is a graduate of Oregon State University, where he earned a degree in Business Administration. He and his wife, Beverly, reside in central Phoenix.

CRAIG BRADLEY

Vice President, Finance

After serving as the team's Controller from 2004-06, Craig Bradley enters his second season as the Arizona Diamondbacks' Vice President, Finance and works closely with all departments within the organization as well as overseeing the accounting, reporting and business operations functions.

Bradley originally joined the D-backs in September 1997 as Business Manager, Baseball Operations and worked alongside former General Manager Joe Garagiola Jr. as well as other baseball department directors in setting up and managing the minor league system, Dominican Republic academy and scouting and Major League operations.

Prior to the D-backs taking the field, Bradley worked as the Assistant General Manager, Business Operations for the Phoenix Firebirds, the San Francisco Giants then-AAA affiliate, from 1994-97. With the Firebirds, he was responsible for game and stadium operations, season tickets, box office and merchandising.

After graduating from Arizona State University in 1988, Bradley began his career with Arthur Andersen & Co. before moving into the construction and manufacturing industries. He played baseball for the Sun Devils from 1983-85, earning a junior varsity letter.

A Certified Public Accountant, Bradley is also a board member of About Care, Inc., a non-profit organization that provides services to the homebound in the East Valley. He and his wife, Dr. Jennifer Bradley, have two daughters, Cecilia and Olivia, and make their home in Chandler.

BOB GEBHARD

Vice President, Special Assistant to the General Manager

As the Vice President, Special Assistant to the General Manager, Bob Gebhard has played an integral role within the Arizona Diamondbacks' baseball operations department that has enabled the organization to sign talented players and develop them within the organization while putting together a roster with a young nucleus at the Major League level to achieve sustained success for the future.

Gebhard joined the D-backs prior to the 2005 season after a five-year stint in a similar role with the St. Louis Cardinals from 2000-04 under then-General Manager Walt Jocketty, who he assisted in the club's day-to-day Major League operations including player evaluation and contract negotiations.

None of those roles were new to Gebhard, who was on the ground floor of the Colorado Rockies' franchise, joining the club in the winter of 1991 and building the entire baseball operations department from scratch. His efforts were rewarded with the Rockies' first playoff appearance in only three years into their existence in 1995, winning the National League's first-ever Wild Card spot on the final day of the season. Among his early successes in Colorado included the signing of veteran Andrea Galarraga to a free-agent contract the day before the 1992 Expansion Draft, then engineering a trade for slugging outfielder Dante Bichette immediately following the draft, with the twosome eventually comprising half of the famed Blake Street Bombers. Gebhard and his staff were so thoroughly prepared for the Expansion Draft that six members of the 1995 Division Series playoff squad still remained when the Rockies played the Atlanta Braves.

Gebhard joined the Rockies after a successful stint the Minnesota Twins' front office, joining the team as the Director of Major League Personnel in 1987, then assuming the role of Vice President of Player Personnel the following year. His first and last years with Minnesota culminated in a pair of World Series rings, as the Twins knocked off the Cardinals in 1987 and Braves in 1991.

Gebhard had an 11-year playing career as a pitcher that included big league duty with both the Twins and Montreal Expos. He was a player/coach in the Montreal organization from 1974-75, then was promoted to Minor League Field Director and pitching coach in 1976, a role he held for six seasons. Gebhard was part of Montreal's big league coaching staff in 1982, then served as Director of Minor League Operations through 1986. He then joined the Twins, the organization that selected him in the 15th round of the first June draft in 1965.

A native of Lambert, Minn., Gebhard earned 16 letters in four sports in high school. His athletic career then shifted to the University of Iowa, where he co-captained the baseball team and also played basketball.

Gebhard and his wife, Nancy, who still reside in Littleton, Colo., have three children, daughters Angie and Jenny, and son, Casey. They also have five grandchildren.

His baseball television resume includes directing a Major League package for FOX Sports Net and a five-year stint directing AAA baseball in the Phoenix area in the 1980s.

MARIAN RHODES

Vice President, Human Resources

With more than 20 years of experience in Major League Baseball, Marian Rhodes was charged with re-developing the Arizona Diamondbacks human resources functions while also reinforcing a workplace culture where the best and brightest in the sports industry want to work when she was hired by the D-backs as Vice President, Human Resources mid-way through the 2007 season.

After she joined the club in June 2007, Rhodes implemented new training and development strategies as well as created new employee programs with the executive management team, such as the D-backs' Employee of the Month program and President's Council, to invest in the employees throughout the organization. Rhodes' determination and the organization's investment into its employees resulted in the D-backs being named one of the "Best Places to Work" in Phoenix by the Phoenix Business Journal and BestCompanies/AZ in 2007, becoming the first sports organization to win such an honor.

Prior to joining the D-backs, Rhodes was the Vice President of Public Affairs for the St. Louis Cardinals, where she oversaw all aspects of the organization's employment and workforce diversity initiatives, in addition to being responsible for office administration, customer service and public affairs. Rhodes directed recruitment, benefits, career counseling and performance planning for the Cardinals' 1,200-plus employees as the organization's senior employment executive. She also made sure the organization met its goals of attaining a diversified workforce at all levels throughout the organization. Rhodes also played a significant role in making sure the Cardinals organization met its goals with minority and women-owned businesses through Major League Baseball's Diverse Business Partners Program.

Rhodes contributed greatly to the Cardinals new Busch Stadium by building public and private support for the construction of the new ballpark, which opened in 2006. During negotiations to build the ballpark, Rhodes worked closely with Cardinals' President Mark Lamping in managing the day-to-day activities of the project while also communicating the team's platform to the public.

During her time in St. Louis, Rhodes received many honors, including the St. Louis Business Journal's Most Influential Women Award, the "Yes I Can" Achiever and Role Model Award, the Dollars and Sense America's Best and Brightest Business Women Award and the Missouri Lottery Leadership Award. Rhodes received an Accounting degree from Florida A&M University and later earned an MBA in Marketing from Webster University.

BRENT STEHLIK

Vice President, Ticket Sales and Service

Although the Arizona Diamondbacks aim to put a competitive team on the field on a yearly basis while providing their fans with the finest experience in the safest, cleanest, most family-friendly environment possible, a large part of the attendance uptick the organization realized during the 2007 season can be attributed to Brent Stehlik and his ticket sales and service team.

After joining the organization in July 2007 as Vice President, Ticket Sales and Service, Stehlik put programs in place for the organization's dedicated fan base to come out to the ballpark while the team competed for a playoff spot during the pennant stretch. The sales team achieved the same success as the team on the field by seeing a 63% increase in group sales revenue and a 22% increase in suite sales revenue. The group and suite sales totals were both record departmental revenues in the 10-year history of the franchise.

Stehlik, who oversees all groups, suites and season ticket sales and service as well as ticket operations for the Diamondbacks, spent four years with Mandalay Sports Entertainment's Frisco RoughRiders baseball club in Frisco, Texas. He left the Frisco RoughRiders, the AA affiliate of the Texas Rangers, as Chief Operating Officer and oversaw all aspects of ticket sales, marketing, game entertainment, concessionaire relations and game operations for the organization that led all AA affiliates in attendance from 2005-06. The RoughRiders also ranked among the Top 10 in Minor League Baseball in attendance since the team's inception in 2003. Stehlik originally joined the RoughRiders in April 2003 as Director, Ticket Sales before being promoted to Vice President, Ticket Sales in August 2004 after developing creative programs to generate revenue and increase attendance for all aspects of the organization.

Prior to joining the RoughRiders, Stehlik quickly moved up through the ranks at Palace Sports & Entertainment, where he started as an Account Executive in 1999 before being promoted to Group Events Manager in 2000. He spent the last two years with Palace Sports and Entertainment as Director of Group Sales for the National Hockey League's Tampa Bay Lightning, Arena Football League's Tampa Bay Storm and the St. Pete Times Forum.

Stehlik is a 1999 graduate from Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio, where he received his B.A. in Sports Management and was a double minor in Business Administration and Computer Information Systems. He and his wife, Molly, reside in Phoenix with their daughter, Sophie.

CHRISTINE STOFFEL

Vice President, Information Technology

Christine Stoffel enters her first full season with the Arizona Diamondbacks in 2008 as the organization's Vice President, Information Technology.

After joining the team in October 2007, Stoffel restructured the company's IT network during the offseason to migrate from a server system used in conjunction with the NBA's Phoenix Suns when both teams were part of one company. She also orchestrated a complete refresh of computer equipment throughout the organization and enabled the D-backs to become a leader in cutting edge technology among all Major League Baseball teams and throughout the sports industry by brokering unique partnerships with tech giants Dell, Nortel and Microsoft. The new technological tools Stoffel brought into the organization allow D-backs employees to make easier and faster decisions for themselves and the company while also building a stable core network infrastructure in the ballpark to allow the club to deploy interactive wireless solutions for its fans.

Prior to joining the D-backs, Stoffel was the Vice President, Information Technology & Strategic Operations for the Phoenix Coyotes from 2006-07, overseeing all technology systems for the Coyotes, Arizona Sting lacrosse team and Jobing.com Arena. She completed numerous cost-saving or revenue-producing technology projects for the hockey club, including a complete voice, data, wireless and multimedia communications system that was installed by Nortel to ensure that all staff, vendors and guests in Jobing.com Arena had high-speed communications no matter where they were.

Stoffel also held numerous positions with other Phoenix-based companies, including holding the title of Senior IT Manager with Caremark RX, the nation's premier integrated pharmacy services provider, from 2001-06; co-founder of Mojo Technologies from 1998-2001; Business Operations Manager for law firm Kimerer & Derrick from 1995-2001; and IT Business Operations Manager with Western Computer Technology from 1988-1995.

To further enhance the use of information technology throughout the sports industry, Stoffel founded the Sports and Entertainment Alliance in Technology Consortium (SEAT IT) in 2007. SEAT IT offers IT professionals innovative networking and communication channels to focus on everyday and industry-unique challenges facing sports teams, along with creating a foundation to tackle the latest technologies and newest challenges through the cooperation and the leveraging of shared knowledge and strategies. She is also a steering committee member for the Association of Luxury Suite Directors (ALSD), including the co-founder and Executive Director of the association's IT division. Stoffel is also a member of the Association of Women in Sports Careers, Computer Security Institute Association, Business and Professional Women Foundation, National Association of Female Executives and the Women in Technology Association.

Stoffel and her husband, Rick, reside in Surprise with their children, Collin, Michael and Haylee.

Woodfork primarily focuses on the D-backs' 40-man roster management as well as contract negotiations, scouting and Minor League player development. He came to Arizona by way of the Boston Red Sox, where he served for three seasons (2003-05) as Director of Baseball Operations and Assistant Director of Player Development. In those capacities, Woodfork played a key role in signing players, salary arbitration, monitoring league rules and working on player development issues. Before joining the Red Sox, he spent three years in the Commissioner's Office working with Major League Baseball's Labor Relations department. While there, he worked with the baseball operations departments of all teams, assisting them with the interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement, salary arbitration and advising them of upcoming deadlines. Woodfork also took part in the creation of the 2003-06 Basic Agreement between the Player's Union and Major League Baseball.

Woodfork is a 1999 graduate of Harvard University, where he earned a degree in psychology and started in the infield for the Crimson baseball team, which won three Ivy League Championships in his four seasons. He and his wife, Becca, reside in Phoenix.

ROLAND HEMOND

Special Assistant to the President

One of the most respected and experienced executives in baseball, Roland Hemond rejoined the Arizona Diamondbacks midway through the 2007 season as Special Assistant to the President and immediately got to work by strengthening the D-backs' relationships throughout Major League Baseball and enhancing the organization's initiatives in Mexico. In 2008, Hemond played an integral role in scheduling the D-backs spring training exhibition game against the Chicago White Sox in Hermosillo, Mexico and bringing the defending Mexican League Champion Monterrey Sultanes to Chase Field for an exhibition game against the D-backs.

Hemond, a three-time winner of MLB's Executive of the Year award, has 57 years of professional baseball experience, including 23 seasons as a general manager with the White Sox (1971-85) and Baltimore Orioles (1988-95) and five seasons as Senior Executive Vice President with the D-backs (1996-2000). He later served as Executive Advisor with the White Sox (2000-07) until rejoining the D-backs. Hemond is a nationally recognized ambassador of the game and a highly sought-after speaker. His professionalism, friendliness and willingness to contribute ideas and advice are attributes unmatched in the industry.

He was inducted into the Boston Braves Historical Association Hall of Fame in 2007, was presented with the prestigious William J. Slocum Award at the New York baseball writer's dinner in 2006 and the Honors Award from the Baseball Coaches of America. In 2003, Hemond was honored with the esteemed Branch Rickey Award, presented by the Rotary Club of Denver to individuals in baseball who contribute unselfishly to their community and who are strong role models for others. He was the first non-uniformed person to receive the award.

During his first stint with the White Sox, Hemond was named Executive of the Year in 1972 and 1983. The 1972 White Sox went 87-67 for the organization's first winning record in five seasons. The 1983 club went 99-63 and won the American League West Division title by 20 games, which was then a record for largest winning margin. While with Baltimore in 1989, Hemond was tabbed Executive of the Year for the third time after the Orioles improved 32.5 games from the previous season and made a 22-game improvement in the standings. During his tenure with the White Sox and Orioles, Hemond negotiated 135 trades involving 428 players.

Hemond was honored by Minor League Baseball for his longtime dedication and service to the game as the 2001 "King of Baseball." Hemond's baseball career began in 1951 as a front office member of the Eastern League's Hartford Chiefs. He also worked with the Boston/Milwaukee Braves from 1952-60 before being hired as Scouting and Farm Director of the Los Angeles Angels in 1961. Hemond remained in that role until joining the White Sox in 1970.

Hemond is president of the Association of Professional Ballplayers of America, non-profit organization that helps former and current players and baseball personnel in need. Along with White Sox executive and former agent Dennis Gilbert and scouts Dave Yoakum and Harry Minor, Hemond helped found the Professional Baseball Scouts Foundation to provide assistance to longtime scouts who are in need of special support.

Three annual awards are named in Hemond's honor: the Roland Hemond Award, presented by the White Sox in honor of those who are dedicated to bettering the lives of others through extraordinary personal sacrifice; the Baseball America Award, presented to the person who has made major contributions to scouting and player development; and the Society of American Baseball Research (SABR) Award, given to the executive who has displayed great respect for scouts. Hemond was the inaugural recipient of both the Baseball America and SABR awards. In July 2006, he received an honorary degree in Humane Letters from the University of Phoenix.

Hemond is a native of Central Falls, RI. He and his wife, Margo, reside in Phoenix and have five children: Susan, Tere, Robert, Jay and Ryan, and three grandchildren: Taylor, Natalie and Zane. Margo's father is John Quinn, a former Major League general manager for 28 years. Her brother, Bob, served as general manager for the New York Yankees, Cincinnati Reds and San Francisco Giants, and her brother, Jack, was president of the NHL's St. Louis Blues after serving as general manager for the Pacific Coast League's Hawaii Islanders and Vancouver Mounties. Margo's grandfather, A.J. Bob Quinn, was a player, front office executive and owner of the Columbus, Ohio affiliate starting in 1886, giving the family continuity in professional baseball for three centuries. Hemond's son, Bob, is the founding partner of the PCL's Sacramento River Cats.

TOM ALLISON

Director, Scouting

Tom Allison enters his second season as Director, Scouting with the Arizona Diamondbacks, where he oversees all amateur scouting for the organization.

Allison loaded up on pitching in his first draft with the D-backs in 2007, selecting six pitchers in the first seven rounds of the draft. He was able to nab righthander Jarrod Parker, whom Baseball America said had the "most electric arm in the draft," out of Norwell High School in Bluffton, Ind., with the ninth overall selection in the first round. He also landed right-handers Wes Roemer (50th overall selection from Cal-State Fullerton) and Barry Enright (second-round pick from Pepperdine), who Baseball America lauded as the two most polished college pitcher in the draft that could be Major League ready by 2009.

Allison came to the D-backs after spending the previous seven seasons (2000-06) as a scouting crosschecker for the Milwaukee Brewers. He was a member of the New York Mets organization for 10 years in capacities such as Area Scouting Supervisor (1996-99), Assistant Scouting Director (1995-96) and a player and coach in the minor league system from 1990-94.

IN THE CLUBHOUSE

KEN CRENSHAW

Head Athletic Trainer

Ken Crenshaw is in his third season with the Arizona Diamondbacks after a 10-year stint with the Tampa Bay Devil Rays, the last three of which were as the Major League head athletic trainer. The 2005 Rays medical staff was voted Major League Training Staff of the Year by their peers, the Professional Athletic Trainers Association (PBATS). The previous year in 2004, Crenshaw's staff earned the distinction of Medical Staff of the Year by Baseball Prospect.

Prior to his promotion as the head athletic trainer for the Rays, Ken spent five seasons as the assistant Major League trainer. Before the Devil Rays fielded a big league club in 1998, Crenshaw worked for two years as the organization's minor league medical/strength and conditioning coordinator.

Crenshaw's professional baseball training experience also featured a four-year stint as the strength and conditioning coordinator with the Atlanta Braves, and three seasons as an athletic trainer in the Pittsburgh Pirates' chain. Crenshaw's arrival in Arizona is somewhat of a homecoming for the native of Carrizozo, N.M., graduating from nearby New Mexico State University with a degree in sports medicine. He is a certified member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) and the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA).

He and his wife, Robyn, have three sons, Wacy (10), Wyatt (8) and Dustin (6).

DAVE EDWARDS

Assistant Athletic Trainer

Dave Edwards is in his 11th season as the assistant athletic trainer with the Major League club, though he's one of the organization originals, working a pair of minor league seasons. The 43-year old's baseball training career started in the Arizona chain in 1996 for the Rookie League entry, then it was on to High Desert, working for the California League champs in 1997. Edwards' bilingual skills are a terrific asset in the training room, eliminating any potential medical communication difficulties with Spanish speaking players, as well as serving part-time as an interpreter.

A native of Deming, N.M., Edwards received a degree in athletic training from New Mexico State University in 1988. During his final days at New Mexico State, Edwards began plying his trade in pro baseball with Pocatello and Everett in the Giants' chain from 1987-90. He earned his Master's in athletic training from the University of Nevada in 1991, then returned to the Valley as the head athletic trainer at Grand Canyon University from 1991-96. He was also the assistant trainer for three seasons for the Arizona Rattlers of the Arena Football League.

Edwards is single and makes his home in Scottsdale.

NATE SHAW

Strength & Conditioning Coordinator

This year will be Nate Shaw's third as the Major League strength and conditioning coordinator. He joined the D-backs before the 2006 season after a three-year stint in the Tampa Bay Devil Rays organization, the last two as the minor league strength and conditioning coordinator. He spent his first season in the Rays' chain as their New York Penn League athletic trainer and strength coach. While with the Devil Rays, Shaw was responsible for implementing data based research to further develop programs and procedures in accordance with injury prevention and performance enhancement.

Shaw started his work in professional sports by spending two years (2001-2002) with the Toronto Blue Jays during their spring training session in Dunedin, Fla. He also co-founded the GHFC Sports Performance Program, implementing all key facets of the operation including marketing, sales and program design.

Shaw, 33, graduated from the University of Florida in 2001 with a Bachelors Degree in Exercise and Sport Sciences. He is single and makes his home in Phoenix..

NEIL RAMPE

Manual Therapist

Neil Rampe joins the D-backs for his first season as Manual Therapist after a five-year stay at the University of Arizona, where he most recently served as the Associate Director of Performance Enhancement.

Rampe came to Arizona in July 2003 from the Boulder Center for Sports Medicine, where he served as an athletic trainer. Prior to his work in Boulder, Colo., Rampe was the assistant strength and conditioning coach at the University of Minnesota from 2001-02.

Rampe began his professional career at San Diego State University, where he was a graduate teaching associate in exercise and nutritional sciences in 2000.

A native of Kalida, Ohio, Rampe, earned two bachelor's degrees, both athletic training and physical education with a strength and conditioning emphasis, from the University of Findlay (Ohio) in May 2000. He was a four-year letterwinner for the Findlay men's soccer program where he was a two-time NAIA All-American.

He earned his master's degree in applied kinesiology from the University of Minnesota in May 2002 and attended massage therapy school at The Providence Institute.

Rampe carries certifications from the National Strength & Conditioning Coaches Association (NSCA), the National Athletic Trainers' Association (NATA), the National Academy of Sports Medicine (NASM) and the American Massage Therapy Association (AMTA).

Rampe is single and lives in Phoenix.

DR. MICHAEL LEE

Head Team Physician

Dr. Lee is in his eighth full season as the Head Team Physician after assisting the organization with its orthopedic needs for five years. In his current role, Dr. Lee oversees a support team of orthopedists and primary care physicians to provide whole-spectrum medical care to the entire D-backs organization. Though vital in-season when injuries and orthopedic needs arise, Dr. Lee and his fellow physicians are also busy in the winter months providing follow-up exams with players, as well as giving thorough physical examinations to new acquisitions. An active member of the Major League Baseball Team Physicians Association, Dr. Lee is board certified in orthopedic surgery and sports medicine.

He had previously taken care of other Major League clubs, as well as serving as orthopedic consultant to the Arizona State University sports teams. Dr. Lee grew up in Phoenix, then graduated from the University of California-San Diego and attended the University of Arizona, where he completed Master's coursework in Exercise Physiology, graduating from the College of Medicine with honors in 1988. He completed his orthopedic residency at the University of Kansas, then was awarded a Sports Medicine fellowship with the University of Illinois School of Medicine.

Dr. Lee returned to Phoenix over a decade ago with his wife, Martha, and three children, Conor, Allison and Brendan.

He is a Board Certified Family Physician with special training in sports medicine. After graduating from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, he received his master's degree in anatomy as well as his medical degree from Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio. While completing his family practice residency in Toledo, he served as a team physician for the University of Toledo and a couple of local high schools for three years.

Dr. McCoy was honored as the Sports Medicine Fellow at Michigan State University where he served as team physician and a faculty member teaching and developing course work at the medical school. He was most recently honored by being voted one of Phoenix's "Top Docs" of 2006 by Phoenix Magazine.

Aside from his responsibilities with the D-backs, he is also team physician for Arizona State University, a published author in sports medicine literature and a member of the American Medical Society for Sports Medicine.

PETER MAINVILLE, JR.

Minor League Medical Coordinator

Peter (P.J.) Mainville, Jr. enters his second season as the club's minor league medical coordinator. He spent the last three seasons with the Orioles Triple-A affiliate in Ottawa, serving as the athletic trainer.

Mainville is a 1997 graduate of East Carolina University and received a Masters of Science Degree from California University (Penn.) in performance enhancement in 2005. He is a member the National Athletic Trainers Association and the Professional Baseball Athletic Trainers Society. Mainville and his wife, Michele, have a daughter Kylie (4) and a son Caden (2), and make their home in Tucson.

ROGER RILEY

Senior Director, Team Travel

Roger Riley is in his 11th season with the D-backs and 19th season in Major League Baseball. He began his D-backs career as the Director of Team Travel in the winter of 1997, then adding the duties of Clubhouse Manager prior to the World Series season of 2001. As if being a member of a World Championship team wasn't enough, he capped that year by earning the 2001 Traveling Secretary of the Year award, as voted by his peers in Major League Baseball. Aside from his regular duties on the road, he assists baseball operations when the needs arise regarding player transactions and computer work.

Riley doesn't have much of an "off-season" as evidenced by his departure for the MLB clubhouse manager meetings just 72 hours after the Diamondbacks won the World Series title in 2001. He spends the majority of the winter signing hotel and charter aircraft contracts for the upcoming year. As the season commences he arranges for ground transportation in each city and makes sure the hotel is prepared for the team's arrival with room keys in hand, regardless of the hour. Riley also handles player ticket requests both at home and on the road.

His role with the D-backs includes work on the schedule, and making sure that game times both at home and on the road are within the guidelines of Major League Baseball. Riley also works on the exhibition schedule with other Cactus League clubs and coordinates the travel plans for all players and staff members as they prepare for the six-week stay in Tucson.

Baseball was far from uncharted territory for Riley, who played college ball at the University of Kansas. It was there he began working as a statistician, and spent 19 years with a variety of network television assignments, including the Bowl Championship Series title game in the Sugar Bowl in 2000. Upon joining the Padres in 1990, Riley was the Assistant Director of Media Relations, then for two seasons worked as both the Director of Media Relations and the Travel Director. He departed from the media chair after the 1996 season and combined his travel responsibilities with Baseball Administration, working with the General Manager.

He and his wife, Donna, have three daughters, Taylor, Shannon and Ashley, and two grandsons, and make their home in Chandler. Riley is an advisory member of the Sheriff's Youth Assistance Foundation.

BOB DOTY

Visiting Clubhouse/Equipment Manager

Raised in San Diego, Bob Doty made a tough decision but made the move to Arizona in the winter prior to the 1998 season, assuming the same role he held in the Padres' organization for a dozen seasons. Adept in all phases of the equipment operation, Doty is also in charge of ordering and stocking equipment for the major league and minor league clubs. He joined the D-backs after a 20-year stay in his hometown with the Padres.

The role of the visiting clubhouse attendant is an all-encompassing position including unpacking each team when their equipment arrives at Chase Field, regardless of the time of day, while also cleaning all of the uniforms and making sure the clubhouse is properly catered for the visiting players.

A graduate of University High School in San Diego, Doty and his wife Angie, have a pair of daughters, Lauren and Sarah, and make their home in Phoenix.

♦ Following his perfect game, retired the first 6 Marlins he faced in a May 23 win at Florida, but Abraham Nunez led off the third with a double to snap streak of 39 consecutive batters retired, two shy of the Major League record set in 1972 by the Giants' Jim Barr...was the third-longest such streak in history, falling an out shy of Tom Browning's 40 in a row in 1988.

- ♦ On June 29 vs. San Diego, became the fourth member of the 4,000-K Club, fanning the Padres' Jeff Cirillo on his final pitch of the evening for the milestone strikeout...was the quickest pitcher to record 4,000 strikeouts, needing 607.1 fewer innings than the previous fastest, who was Ryan when he notched his 4,000th on July 11, 1985...to reach 4,000 strikeouts, Johnson totaled over 900 fewer frames than Roger Clemens and an astonishing 1,750 less than Steve Carlton.
- ♦ Was Named to his 10th career All-Star Game and allowed 3 hits with 1 strikeout on July 13 at Minute Maid Park in Houston.

- ♦ Became the most prolific left-handed strikeout pitcher in Major League history on Sept. 15 vs. Colorado, passing Steve Carlton and moving into third-place on the all-time strikeout list (4,136)...tied Carlton with his fifth-inning strikeout of Brad Hawpe, then passed him when Vinny Castilla fanned in the seventh.
- ♦ Chosen by the Arizona Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America as the D-backs' Most Valuable Player and Most Valuable Pitcher, the first player to win both awards.
- ♦ Completed his first tenure in Arizona with a 103-49 record (.678), totaling 1,832 strikeouts in 1,389.2 innings for a 11.9 strikeout per nine-innings ratio.

- ♦ Fanned 12 over 6.0 innings of a 7-3 win on April 27 in the second game of a doubleheader at New York-NL upon his return from the disabled list...his efforts helped the Arizona staff record 27 Strikeouts on the day, a Major League record for strikeouts during a doubleheader.
- ♦ His first start as a 40-year old was a memorable occasion on Sept. 14, tossing his fourth career 1-hitter, first as a D-back, in blanking the Rockies, 5-0, in Phoenix.
- ♦ Fanned 12 for his 88th career complete game and 35th shutout with the lone hit a one-out single in the fifth by Rene Reyes, who was promptly picked off as Johnson faced just 1 man over the minimum, issuing a fourth-inning walk to Garrett Atkins, who was left stranded...it was his first 1-hitter since July 16, 1998 in the Kingdome as a member of the Mariners against Minnesota.
- ♦ Followed with another memorable outing in his next start on Sept. 19 in Milwaukee, as the newly-turned 40-year old lined a Doug Davis delivery into the Brewer bullpen in leftfield for his first home run in 437 career at bats...the home run came from a borrowed bat from Raul Mondesi, made him the oldest player in major league history to hit his first home run, eclipsing Bill McGhee of the Philadelphia A's, who went deep on Sept. 3, 1944, at the age of 38 years, 364 days...was not involved in the decision, a 3-2 Arizona triumph after allowing 2 runs over 6.0 innings with 10 strikeouts.
- ♦ Recorded his 1,500th strikeout as a D-back on Aug. 30, joining Ryan as the only pitchers with at least 1,500 strikeouts with 2 different clubs...fanned 2,162 as a member of the Mariners.

- ◆ Jumped from ninth to fourth on the all-time strikeout list, passing Walter Johnson, Gaylord Perry, Don Sutton, Tom Seaver and Bert Blyleven.
- ◆ Became the first pitcher in big league history to fan at least 300 men in 5 straight seasons and tied Ryan as the only hurlers in the game's storied history to record 6 career 300-strikeout seasons...the Big Unit was joined in the 300-K club for 2002 by Curt Schilling, the first teammates in major league history to each record 300 strikeouts in the same season...he and Schilling each won 45 games over the 2001-2002 seasons, equaling Jim Palmer's 2-year total from 1975-76 and the most by NL hurlers since Steve Carlton won 47 with Philly (1971-72).
- ◆ To further illustrate Randy's dominance during the 2002 season, 4 of his 35 starts totaled 26 earned runs in just 23.0 innings, allowing 5, 6, 7 and 8, losing 3 of those outings...in his other 31 starting assignments, the Big Unit was 24-2 with a remarkable 1.56 ERA, allowing only 41 earned runs in 237.0 innings.
- ◆ His regular season began and ended nearly flawlessly, winning the National League Pitcher of the Month award for April by going 6-0 with a 1.37 ERA, becoming the first pitcher to win 6 games prior to May 1 twice in his career (2000) while the only other 2 hurlers ever to accomplish the feat once were Vida Blue (1971) and Dave Stewart (1988).

- ◆ Voted to his third consecutive Cy Young Award, posting 21 wins while leading the majors in strikeouts with 372 over 249.2 innings...his strikeouts per 9-inning ratio of 13.4 was the best single-season mark in Major League history, eclipsing Pedro Martinez's previous record of 13.2 with the Red Sox in 1999... the Big Unit's final ERA of 2.49 was good for his second ERA title in the last 3 seasons...his 372 strikeouts also established a career best, the third best single-season total in major league history, just 11 strikeouts behind Nolan Ryan's all-time mark of 383...also had his third consecutive year with 23 double-digit strikeout games, tying a Major League record he already shared with Ryan... Johnson's strikeout total combined with Curt Schilling's 293 made them the top single-season tandem in big league history, fanning 41 more than Ryan and Bill Singer when they struck out 624 with the Angels in 1973.
- ◆ Concluded his remarkable year by going 16-2 with a 2.21 ERA in his last 24 appearances, allowing 42 earned runs over 171.0 innings.

- ◆ Struck out 16 in a rare relief appearance when he took the ball the day after the July 18 contest in San Diego was suspended due to an electrical box explosion in the light ring that darkened Qualcomm Stadium in the third inning...in relief of Schilling, he worked the final 7.0 innings, allowing an eighth inning single for San Diego's only hit in the game while fanning 16 of the 23 men he faced to establish a major league record for strikeouts in a relief appearance (Walter Johnson had 15 in 11.1 innings in 1913)...also set a National League mark for relievers with 7 straight strikeouts, his second of 3 outings that featured 7 straight strikeouts.

- ◆ His third 16-strikeout game also found its way into the record book on Aug. 23 in Pittsburgh, working 7.0 innings in a 5-1 loss, his only setback in his last 18 trips to the hill...his first inning strikeout of Jack Wilson was his 1,000th in less than 3 full seasons as a D-back...fanned Wilson again in the sixth to become his 300th victim of the 2001 season, the first time in history that a pitcher recorded at least 300 strikeouts in 4 straight seasons...the sixth inning was also when Randy tied a big league record with 3 strikeouts on 9 pitches.
- ◆ Appeared in 17 games after an Arizona defeat, going 10-2 featuring an 8-0 mark and 1.21 ERA in his last 13 post-loss outings, giving up just 13 earned runs in 96.2 innings.
- ◆ Was the All-Star starter in Seattle, his eighth overall trip to the Midsummer Classic, second straight start.
- ◆ The Big Unit's 372 strikeouts came while walking only 71 hitters, a differential of 301 which is the second best in major league history...when Sandy Koufax set the NL strikeout record with 382 in 1965 he walked only 71 men, a difference of 311.

- ◆ Was the starter in the 15-2 triumph in Game 6, then returned to the hill the next night in relief to record the last 4 outs prior to the come-from-behind effort to win Game 7 and the World Series title...was the first pitcher in 55 years to win as a starter in Game 6 and reliever in Game 7 since St. Louis' Harry Brecheen (1946).
- ◆ Became the first 5-game winner in postseason history, second all-time, joining Francisco Rodriguez (5-1 in 2002), and the 13th pitcher to win 3 times in the same World Series, first since Detroit's Mickey Lolich (1968).
- ◆ First-ever World Series experience began with an efficient 4-0 win in Game 2, going the distance on a 3-hitter with a walk and 11 strikeouts, the 47th double-digit strikeout game in Series history...it was the first Fall Classic complete game since Greg Maddux vs. Cleveland in Game 1 of the '95 Series, and first complete game shutout since Schilling's Game 5 triumph over Toronto in 1993...the 3-hitter also marked the fewest hits allowed in a World Series complete game shutout since Orel Hershiser 3-hit the A's in Game 2 in 1988...the blanking of the Yankees was the first time the Bronx Bombers had been victimized by a complete game shutout in World Series play since the Dodgers' Don Drysdale fired a 3-hitter in Game 3 of 1963.
- ◆ Returned to the hill in Game 6, a 15-2 triumph allowing 6 hits over 7.0 innings...his first inning strikeout of Derek Jeter was his 412th overall strikeout of the year (372 regular season/40 postseason) surpassing Koufax for the highest combined single-season total in big league history (Koufax had 382 regular season/29 World Series in 1965)...Randy also delivered a run scoring single during Arizona's 8-run explosion in the third inning, while scoring twice, the first pitcher to do so in a World Series since Bob Gibson (Game 4, 1968).
- ◆ Followed the next night with his 1.1 innings of relief, his first postseason bullpen work since going 3.0 frames against the Yankees in Game 5 of the 1995 ALDS while with Seattle...his Games 6 and 7 performances made him the first hurler to start a World Series game and pitch in relief in the next game since Dave McNally in 1971 vs. Pittsburgh, when he started Game 5 and relieved in Games 6 & 7 for the Orioles.
- ◆ His 5-game postseason winning streak began in the NLCS against Atlanta, winning Game 1 in a complete game 3-hitter, fanning 11 in a 1-0 win...allowed a first inning single to Chipper Jones then fired 7.0 straight hitless innings to set an NLCS record, an inning more of no-hit ball than Jack Billingham had with Cincinnati in Game 1 of the 1973 series vs. the Mets.
- ◆ Followed with a win in the NL pennant clincher in Game 5 at Turner Field, working 7.0 frames allowing 2 runs on 7 hits, a 3-2 decision.

- ♦ Earned 14 saves on the year, ranking 18th in NL and second on team (Jose Valverde, 15), despite not recording a rescue between May 11-Sept. 29.
- ♦ Made his D-backs debut on April 5 vs. the Cubs, more than 16 months after being acquired from Boston, and closed out a 5-4 triumph with 1.2 scoreless innings...it was his first big-league appearance since Sept. 8, 2003, having missed the '04 campaign following nerve transposition surgery.
- ♦ Recorded saves in 9 consecutive appearances from April 10-26 and wound up with 10 saves during April, matching Matt Mantei's (August, 2003) club record for a single month.
- ♦ Soreness in his right elbow sidelined him from May 13-Aug. 12, including a brief rehab stint with Tucson (AAA)...at the time of his injury, his 13 saves were tied with Pittsburgh's Jose Mesa and Texas' Francisco Cordero for most in the Majors.
- ♦ Owned a 1.96 ERA in 18 games before being sidelined and a 13.91 ERA in 14 outings after returning from the D.L.
- ♦ Converted his last 13 save chances, tied with Jose Valverde for the third-longest streak in club history, behind only Mantei (14, July 4-Aug. 29, 2003) and Gregg Olson (22, July 13-Sept. 22, 1998).
- ♦ His save percentage (93%) would have ranked third in National League if he had accumulated enough opportunities.

2004

- ♦ Had a tough first year on the health front as a member of the D-backs...underwent an MRI and an electromyogram in spring training, then a further examination by Dr. Lewis Yocum led to the decision to have ulnar nerve transposition surgery on March 24...two weeks later the cast came off, but he did not return to the mound until July 14 when he tossed about 25 pitches.
- ♦ During Aug. 11 rehab outing with Tucson (AAA), reported tightness in the elbow...an MRI revealed no structural damage, but the setback once again slowed his return.
- ♦ Another attempt to activate him before year's end was aborted during the season's final week.

2003

- ♦ Served as one of Boston's top closer options prior to the late-May arrival of Byung-Hyun Kim...recorded 6 saves through the end of May (spanning 22 appearances), and 9 saves overall.
- ♦ Did not pitch in the Majors from July 21-Sept. 2 due to right elbow soreness.
- ♦ Experienced a strange final week of July, going to the Pirates in a 4-player swap on July 22 that sent Scott Sauerbeck to the Red Sox...upon his arrival in Pittsburgh, the Pirates claimed an MRI showed fraying tendons in Lyon's pitching elbow and placed him on the 15-day disabled list on July 25...Red Sox doctors, reading the same MRI, disagreed with the diagnosis, then he was re-acquired by the Red Sox with Jeff Suppan in a deal just prior to the July 31 non-waiver trading deadline.
- ♦ Made a memorable Red Sox debut at Tampa Bay on April 2, pitching 3.0 innings of scoreless, extra-inning relief to earn a 9-8 win in 16 innings, Boston's first victory of the season.
- ♦ Earned his first Major League save on April 16 vs. the Devil Rays.

- ♦ Began the year with Toronto, the first time he broke camp on a Major League roster.
- ♦ Made his first career relief appearance on May 28 at Boston.

- ♦ Named Southern League Pitcher of the Week for April 13-19.
- ♦ Jumped to Syracuse (AAA) on June 1, where he was named International League Pitcher of the Week twice (June 11-17 & July 9-15).
- ♦ Had his contract purchased by Toronto on Aug. 3 and won his Major League debut the next day at Sky-Dome, allowing one earned run on 4 hits in 7.1 innings in a 2-1 victory over the Orioles...was the seventh youngest pitcher to start a game for the Blue Jays and the second youngest to win (Phil Huffman, who was 20 in 1979).

- ◆ Recorded a season-high 7 strikeouts on July 1 at Staten Island.
- ◆ Won 3 of final 4 decisions of season – July 28 at Pittsfield, Aug. 18 at New Jersey and Aug. 28 vs. Pittsfield...Aug. 18 outing was longest appearance of season, going 6.0 innings.

PERSONAL

- ◆ Brandon James Lyon.
- ◆ He and his wife, Sara, have 2 sons, Isaac and Andrew.
- ◆ Graduated from Taylorsville (Utah) High School, where he was named the Utah Player of the Year.
- ◆ Attended Dixie Junior College in Utah, where he was a Junior College All-American, an All-Region selection in 1999 and 2000 and an All-Region MVP...he was also the JUCO Player of the Year in 2000, posting a 17-0 record and 0.52 ERA.

- ◆ Had his shortest big league starting assignment on Sept. 17 in St. Louis, when plate umpire Jerry Layne made the judgment that Webb threw at opposing hurler Woody Williams and ejected him with none out in the third inning...had just surrendered a home run to Mike Matheny, then hit his counterpart with the next pitch...it was the first ejection of Webb's big league career.
- ◆ His sinker proved effective as he led all starters with a 3.55 groundball-to-flyball ratio, easily outdistancing Boston's Derek Lowe (2.87), the only starting pitcher Webb trailed in that category during 2003.

- ◆ Made his first Major League start 5 days later with a 6-1 win in the first game of an April 27 doubleheader at Shea Stadium, tossing 7.0 shutout innings, allowing only 3 hits and a walk while recording 10 strikeouts...his 10-strikeout performance started an afternoon that saw the Diamondbacks set a Major League record for most strikeouts in a doubleheader, as 27 Mets fanned during the day...within minutes of securing the win, he was optioned back to Tucson to make room on the roster for Randy Johnson, who was coming off the disabled list to start the nightcap of the twinbill.
- ◆ Following Johnson's 12-strikeout performance that resulted in a 7-3 win, he once again experienced swelling in his right knee and required arthroscopic surgery which necessitated Webb's second recall...his Big Apple outing started a streak of 13 consecutive quality starts to begin his career, the longest streak in the Majors since Montreal's Steve Rogers had 16 in a row in 1973.
- ◆ Became the first D-backs rookie to toss a complete game shutout when he blanked Detroit, 7-0, at Comerica Park on June 28, allowing 7 hits.
- ◆ Recorded 542 Major League outs, only 55 of which were caught by an outfielder (10%).

A PERFECT NIGHT IN ATLANTA

Adept at setting records throughout his Major League career, Randy Johnson added something new to his impressive resume when he retired all 27 Atlanta Braves he faced on May 18, 2004, in Turner Field. At 40 years, 251 days, he became the oldest pitcher in history to record a perfect game, bettering Cy Young, who was 37 years, 37 days on May 5, 1904. Johnson's gem was the 15th in modern day regular season history, the 16th including Don Larsen's perfect effort for the Yankees in the 1956 World Series.

Johnson fanned 13 in the 117-pitch performance which concluded with a 98-mph pitch to Eddie Perez to end the game. It was the first no-no in franchise history and first perfect game in the Majors since David Cone on July 18, 1999, in Yankee Stadium against Montreal. It was also the first perfect in the National League since Montreal's Dennis Martinez retired all 27 Dodgers he faced on July 28, 1991, in Chavez Ravine. The box score:

THE ORIGINAL 35

The Arizona Diamondbacks and Tampa Bay Devil Rays were named the 29th and 30th teams in Major League Baseball history during the baseball owners meetings on March 9, 1995. Both clubs began play in 1998, but before a pitch could be thrown each team was given the opportunity to draft 35 players from the existing 28 clubs.

At the plate, Owings goes four-for-five, with two home runs, a double and six runs batted in.

August 22: Brandon Webb's scoreless inning streak is halted at 42, as Milwaukee's Prince Fielder drives in a run with a 1st inning single. The streak ties for the 12th best in Major League history. The Diamondbacks beat the Brewers, 3-2, for Webb's 14th win of the year.

September 5: In the final meeting of the year between the clubs, the D-backs defeat the Padres and eventual Cy Young winner Jake Peavy, 9-6 at Chase Field. Pitching on three days' rest, Peavy allows eight runs over four innings. It was the highest run total and shortest outing Peavy had among his 34 starts in 2007.

September 5: Arizona's Justin Upton is named Minor League Player of the Year by USA Today.

September 10: Jeff Salazar's three-run ninth-inning homer gives Arizona a 5-3 win at San Francisco. The win is Arizona's sixth in a row, and increases the D-backs' lead in the NL West to three and a half games.

September 27: Micah Owings and three relievers combine to blank the Pirates in Pittsburgh, 8-0. Notified shortly before game time that he would start in place of Brandon Webb, Owings limits the Pirates to four hits over six and a third innings, while contributing four hits in four at-bats, with three RBI. The win allows Arizona to maintain a one game lead in the NL West with three games to play.

September 28: The D-backs clinch their fourth postseason berth in 10 years of existence, beating the Colorado Rockies, 4-2 in Denver. Brandon Webb allows two runs on eight hits over seven innings for his 18th win of the year. Jose Valverde earns his Major League-leading 47th save, striking out the side, the last two coming with the tying runs on base.

September 29: Prior to that night's game in Denver, the D-backs secure their fourth National League West title in franchise history, as Milwaukee rallies to defeat San Diego.

October 3: The D-backs' first postseason game is a 3-1 win over the Chicago Cubs at Chase Field, in the opening game of the National League Division Series. Brandon Webb allows one run on four hits over seven innings, striking out nine. Mark Reynolds' solo homer and Conor Jackson's sacrifice fly break a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning.

October 4: Arizona moves to a 2-0 series lead on the Cubs by beating Chicago, 8-4, at Chase Field. Chris Young's three-run homer in the second inning stakes Arizona to a 4-2 lead. Doug Davis and four relievers preserve the victory.

October 6: Arizona scores its first postseason series win since the 2001 World Series by completing a sweep of the NL Division Series. The D-backs beat the Cubs at Wrigley Field, 5-1. Livan Hernandez allows one run on five hits over six innings, while Chris Young's leadoff homer stakes Arizona to a lead it would relinquish. The Cubs hit into four double plays in the game.

October 15: The D-backs' season ends where it began, as the Colorado Rockies complete a sweep of the National League Championship Series, winning in Denver, 6-4. Arizona rallies from a 6-1 deficit with a Chris Snyder three-run homer in the eighth, and had the tying run at the plate at game's end.

November 6: Despite missing the final three weeks of the regular season, D-backs' infielder Orlando Hudson earns his third consecutive Rawlings Gold Glove Award.

November 14: The Baseball Writers' Association of America names Arizona's Bob Melvin as National League Manager of the Year. Melvin earns similar honors from The Sporting News and the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum.

December 3: Arizona trades outfielder Carlos Quentin to the Chicago White Sox in exchange for infielder Chris Carter.

December 14: Arizona makes three trades, the most significant of which resulting in the D-backs acquiring right-handed pitchers Dan Haren and Connor Robertson from Oakland for six minor league players. In addition, the D-backs send right-handed relief pitcher Jose Valverde to Houston for right-handed pitchers Chad Qualls and Juan Guiterrez and outfielder Chris Burke, and they acquire right-handed pitcher Billy Buckner from Kansas City for infielder Alberto Callaspo.

NOTEBOOK

- ♦ The Diamondbacks entered the World Series with Craig Counsell as the only active player in possession of a World Championship ring while the Yankees were 3-time defending champs.
- ♦ Randy Johnson and Curt Schilling were the second co-MVP's in World Series history joining the Los Angeles Dodger trio of Ron Cey, Pedro Guerrero and Steve Yeager...it marked the 20th and 21st time a starting pitcher won the award, first since Florida's Livan Hernandez in 1997.
- ♦ It was the third time in World Series history that the home team won every game, joining the Twins against St. Louis in 1987, and Twins against Atlanta in 1991.
- ♦ The Diamondbacks outscored New York 31-5 in the 4 wins, and were outscored 9-6 in the trio of 1-run losses in Bronx.
- ♦ The Diamondbacks were the fastest expansion team to get to the Fall Classic a year quicker than Florida in '97...other expansion clubs to make the World Series and the year they qualified - Mets (eighth year), Royals (12th year), Seattle Pilots/Milwaukee Brewers (14th year), San Diego (16th year), Toronto (16th year)...remaining expansion clubs that have not appeared in the Series include the Angels, Senators/Rangers, Colt 45's/Astros, Expos, Mariners, Rockies and Devil Rays.
- ♦ Arizona pitching held the Yankees to .183 team average (42-for-229), the lowest average ever in a 7 or 8 game World Series...previous low was .185 by St. Louis vs. Kansas City in 1985.
- ♦ Arizona's overall staff ERA of 1.94 was lowest in World Series play since Cincinnati's 1.70 mark in a 4-game sweep of Oakland in 1990 and lowest in a 7-game set since Kansas City had a 1.89 mark in '85 vs. the Cardinals.
- ♦ The Diamondbacks were the first team in 80 years to win the first 2 games they ever played in the World Series, the fourth team overall joining the 1914 Boston Braves, 1919 Cincinnati Reds and 1921 New York Yankees.
- ♦ The walk-off finish to Game 7 was the 11th overall "sudden death" ending to a World Series, the third in a row that involved a 7-game series...the last was the '97 finish when Craig Counsell scored the tie-breaking run in the 10th inning as Florida defeated Cleveland...the other was Minnesota's 10th inning win over the Braves in the Metrodome in 1991.
- ♦ The Diamondbacks are the 19th team to win the series after trailing 3 games to 2...it was also the 11th time a team won Games 6 & 7 at home.
- ♦ It was the first time the Yankees were involved in a Game 7 of any post-season series since the 1964 World Series went to the limit against St. Louis.
- ♦ The Diamondbacks snapped New York's post-season series streak at 11, handing the Bronx Bombers their first series loss since the 5-game Division Series with Cleveland in 1997.
- ♦ When Curt Schilling and Roger Clemens hooked up in the final game, it marked the sixth time 20-game winners squared off in the seventh game, first since John Tudor (St. Louis) and Bret Saberhagen (Kansas City) in 1985.
- ♦ The 15-2 win in Game 6 alone was worth the following tidbits:
 - ...The Diamondbacks recorded a World Series record 22 hits.
 - ...The 15 runs tied with Toronto for third highest in a World Series game.
 - ...The 13-run margin of victory tied for second best ever matching the Yankees' 16-3 win over Pittsburgh in Game 2 of '60 World Series, and was the second highest ever, just behind an 18-4 Yankee win in Game 2 of the 1936 win over the Giants.
 - ...The 15-0 lead after 5 innings tied the biggest lead by any team at any time in World Series game...the Yankees had a 16-1 lead in Game 2 of the '60 series against Pittsburgh.
 - ...Arizona's 8-run third inning marked the best inning since Game 6 of 1968 series when Detroit scored 10 times in third inning of 13-1 win over St. Louis.

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT

SCOUTING

GREG LONIGRO

Eastern Supervisor

Greg Lonigro enters his second season as Arizona's Eastern Supervisor after spending the previous nine seasons as an area scout. He joined the D-backs in 1998, covering New York, West Virginia and his home state of Pennsylvania. This is his 21st year in professional baseball.

In 1986, Lonigro was drafted by the Cincinnati Reds in the first round (seventh overall) out of Florida Junior College. He played parts of six seasons in the Reds' minor league system before being traded to the Chicago White Sox in 1992. He would also see time with the Chicago Cubs and Florida Marlins before ending his playing career in 1995. He makes his home in Connellsville, Pa.

STEVE McALLISTER

Central Supervisor

Steve McAllister returns for a fourth year in the role of Central Supervisor. He worked as a full-time scout in the Midwest region from 2002-2004.

McAllister has been involved in professional baseball for the past 27 years first as a player and then as a scout. In 1981, he was drafted out of Bradley University as the Houston Astros' fifth-round selection. He played six seasons in the minor leagues before starting his scouting career. He has previously scouted the Midwest for the Milwaukee Brewers, California Angels and the Boston Red Sox.

McAllister is an inductee in both the Chiclicothe (Ill.) High School Athletic Hall of Fame and the Bradley University Athletic Hall of Fame.

BOB MINOR

Western Supervisor

Bob Minor enters his second season as Arizona's Western Supervisor after spending 25 years with the New York Mets. He started there in November 1981, spending 13 years as an area scout and 12 years as a crosschecker.

Minor resides in Garden Grove, Calif., with his wife, Patty, and two sons, Jimmy (17), and Billy (15).

He spent five seasons (2001-03, 2005-06) as the manager at rookie-level Billings, where he helped guide the club to the Pioneer League playoffs five times, including championships in 2001 and 2003. Burleson's 202 wins at Billings place him among the all-time short-season managerial leaders since the format began in 1969. He also managed at Louisville (AAA), replacing Dave Miley in 2003 and remaining for the 2004 season.

Burleson, 56, also managed in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization, where he led San Bernardino (A) to the California League title in 1999 before managing San Antonio in 2000. He also managed in the Seattle Mariners organization from 1997-98 at Lancaster (A), as a Major League hitting coach (1992) and third base coach (1993) for the Boston Red Sox, as a roving minor league base running instructor (1994) and third base coach for the then-California Angels and a roving minor league infield instructor (1989), scout (1990) and Major League batting coach (1991) with the Oakland A's.

Originally drafted in the first round (fifth overall) in the 1970 amateur draft by the Red Sox, Burleson was a four-time All-Star while putting together a .273 average with 50 homers, 449 RBI and 256 doubles in 1,346 games during a 13-year Major League career (1974-87) with Red Sox, Angels and Baltimore Orioles.

MARK HALEY
Manager

After his South Bend team won the second-half Wild Card playoff spot with a 67-70 overall record last season, manager Mark Haley and his Silver Hawks club defeated Dayton, 2-1, in the first round of the playoffs before losing to West Michigan, 0-2, in the Midwest League semifinals. Haley has advanced his South Bend club to the playoffs in all of his three seasons (2005-07) as manager, including winning both the first and second-half season titles in 2005 and then sweeping through the first two rounds of the playoffs before defeating Wisconsin, 3-2, for the league crown.

Haley, 48, spent 13 seasons as a coach and manager in the Chicago White Sox organization, including three seasons (1991-92, 1995) as the hitting coach with South Bend, when the Silver Hawks were a White Sox affiliate. He also spent time as a hitting coach with Sarasota (1993), Hickory (1994), Prince William (1996), Winston-Salem (1997, 1999, 2001-02) and Great Falls (2003-04). Haley guided Hickory to a 56-84 record in 1998 during his only season as a minor league manager with the White Sox. He began his coaching career in the college ranks, serving as an assistant at Nebraska and Tennessee. At Tennessee, Haley also served as interim manager in 1987.

Haley was drafted by the Pittsburgh Pirates in the 1977 amateur draft, but did not sign and stayed at Nebraska, where he was a member of the Cornhuskers' 1980 Big Eight Championship team.

ERIK SABEL
Pitching Coach

Erik Sabel moves up to coach the pitchers at South Bend in 2008 after serving in the same capacity with short-season Yakima for the past three seasons (2005-07), including mentoring five of the club's 2006 draft picks. Sabel was originally drafted by the D-backs in the 42nd round of the First-Year Player Draft in 1996 out of Tennessee Technological University. Overall, he put together a 38-40 record with 16 saves and a 4.94 ERA in 254 games (63 starts) during eight minor league seasons predominantly in the D-backs organization.

Sabel, 33, also spent three seasons in the Major Leagues from 1999-2002 with the D-backs and Detroit Tigers and compiled a 3-2 record and 5.02 ERA in 50 relief appearances. He pitched in 42 games with the World Champion D-backs in 2001, posting a 3-2 mark with a 4.38 ERA. Sabel was selected off waivers by the Tigers during the middle of the 2002 season and appeared in only one game for the Tigers.

FRANCISCO MORALES
Hitting Coach

Francisco Morales jumps up to South Bend in 2008 after spending last season as the hitting coach at short-season Yakima (A), where the Bears were third in the Northwest League with a .264 batting average. Morales spent the previous two seasons (2005-06) coaching at the level of the Dominican Republic, where he spent considerable time with Gerardo Parra, the D-backs' No. 3 minor league prospect entering the 2008 season according to Baseball America.

Morales, 35, batted .223 with 45 homers, 242 RBI, 77 doubles and eight triples in 555 games as a catcher during an eight-year minor league career (1992-99) with the Chicago Cubs, St. Louis Cardinals and Montreal Expos organizations. BOB DIDIER

While continuing to serve as the D-backs' minor league catching coordinator, Bob Didier will also manage short-season Yakima in 2008. The D-backs leaned on Didier's multiple talents since he has been a player, coach, manager and scout during his 42 years in professional baseball by also having him serve as an advance and pro scout during the 2006 season.

Didier, 59, began his coaching career in 1976 as a player/coach with Richmond (AAA) and then moved into the manager's seat for the next seven years (1977-83) with affiliates in the Seattle Mariners, Milwaukee Brewers and Oakland A's organizations. He was a member of the A's big-league coaching staff from 1984-86 before joining the Houston Astros organization as manager of Tucson (AAA) from 1987-88. He returned to the Major League level from 1989-90 as the third base coach with the Mariners and then worked in the Toronto Blue Jays' system as a roving minor league catching instructor from 1991-92 and 2000. He returned to managing from 1993-96 at Syracuse (AAA) and worked as an advance scout with the New York Yankees from 1997-99 and 2001. Didier returned again to the dugout in 2002, managing the Montreal Expos' Florida State League affiliate, and then went back to advance scouting with the Chicago Cubs from 2003-05.

After being selected in the fourth-round by the Atlanta Braves in the 1967 amateur draft, Didier batted .229 with 25 doubles and 51 RBI as a catcher in 247 games during a six-year Major League career (1969-74) with the Braves, Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox. His father, Mel, is a longtime scout and was the D-backs' Director, Player Development from 1997-98 and Senior Assistant to the General Manager from 1999-2000.

DAN CARLSON
Pitching Coach

Dan Carlson enters 2008 as the pitching coach for short-season Yakima, his seventh season as a pitching coach in the D-backs organization. Carlson spent the previous three seasons with the D-backs' AA affiliates Tennessee (2005-06) and Mobile (2007). His pitching staff at Mobile last year ranked second in the Southern League with a 3.88 team ERA and posted a 71-68 record. Carlson also spent time at rookie-level Missoula in 2002 before moving up to South Bend (A) in 2003 and Lancaster (A) in 2004.

Carlson, 38, was a 33rd-round draft choice by the San Francisco Giants in 1989 before compiling a 1-0 record with a 6.70 ERA in 23 relief appearances with the Giants, Tampa Bay Devil Rays and D-backs from 1996-99. He appeared in two games for the D-backs in 1999. Carlson posted an 87-56 record with a 4.12 ERA and 999 strikeouts in 1182 innings over 267 games (164 starts) in a 10-year minor league career (1992-2001).

CHRIS BRIONES

Chris Briones enters his first season in the D-backs organization as the hitting coach at short-season Yakima.

Briones, 34, was selected by the Texas Rangers in the 26th round of the 1995 First-Year Player Draft after attending Nevada and Oklahoma. He batted .201 with nine home runs, 54 RBI and 24 doubles in 136 games as a catcher during a four-year minor league career (1995-99) with the Rangers and San Diego Padres organizations.

2005 ORGANIZATION OF THE YEAR

The Arizona Diamondbacks were named the Topps Organization of the Year for 2005 during the annual Baseball Winter Meetings held in December 2004 in Dallas, TX. It was the first such award for the D-backs, who have had a minor league system in place since 1996, with the big league club beginning play two years later.

The Topps Baseball Organization of the Year Award is presented annually to a Major League organization based on the number of players in their system who have received Topps awards during the season. Points are awarded for four different minor league categories including All-Star players, Players of the Month, the Trautman and Taylor Spink Award recipients, and for Major League rookies who made the Topps Rookie All-Star team.

The D-backs' individual winners were: Phil Avlas (August P.O.M. - California League); Lorenzo Cain (Trautman Award - Arizona League); Matt Elliott and Carlos Gonzalez (Class A All-Star Team - Midwest League); Andy Green (Class AAA All-Star Team/Trautman Award - Pacific Coast League); Conor Jackson (Class AAA All-Star Team - Pacific Coast League); Miguel Montero (May P.O.M. - California League); Dustin Nippert (August P.O.M. - Southern League); and Dan Uggla (Class AA All-Star Team - Southern League).

D-BACKS BROADCASTERS

GREG SCHULTE

Radio Play-By-Play

Name a memorable moment in the history of the Arizona Diamondbacks, and Greg Schulte has described it as it happened. Schulte has been the link between D-backs fans and their team since the club first took the field in 1998. Like the D-backs themselves, Schulte embarks on his 11th season of calling Major League Baseball in 2007. His passion for the game of baseball comes through in every broadcast, and has earned Schulte praise from fans and fellow broadcasters alike.

Schulte's voice will forever be linked with one of baseball's greatest moments, as he delivered the call of Luis Gonzalez' ninth-inning single to win the Game 7 of the 2001 World Series.

A part of the Phoenix radio scene since 1979, Schulte joined the organization after spending 14 years at the D-backs flagship radio station, KTAR. Over that time, Schulte was involved with nearly every major sports entity in the market. He served for 15 seasons with the Phoenix Suns, working with Al McCoy first as producer, and, for the last two seasons, as color commentator. REMEMBERING OUR FRIENDS

John Michaelson Radio Booth

The KTAR Radio booth at Chase Field was named after John Michaelson prior to the 2001 season, honoring the veteran producer/engineer who passed away in the winter of 2000. A veteran behind the scenes in radio broadcasting for years, including three seasons on D-back broadcasts, John was a tireless worker and friend to all who came in contact with him.

Steve Pascente Memorial Press Lounge

Steve Pascente was one of the most dedicated at his craft and died while on location covering football in Washington D.C. His wife, Julie, has kept his memory alive with the Steve Pascente Charitable Foundation, which supports a variety of foundations including Widowed With Children, The Steve Pascente Memorial Scholarships at Arizona State University and The Andre House. When the D-backs opened the 1998 season against the Colorado Rockies, Nick Pascente, the son of Steve and Julie, served as honorary batboy.

Dick Dozer Memorial Press Box

Dick Dozer spent the majority of his life covering Major League Baseball for the Chicago Tribune, but he was hardly a stranger to the Valley. After leaving the beat of the big leagues, he arrived in Phoenix and wrote for the Gazette, while also contributing his time in organizing the annual "Dream Game," an oldtimers contest that benefitted the Phoenix Memorial Hospital Foundation, and working with the Mesa Ho-Ho-Kams. Dozer was BBWAA Chapter President in 1976. He passed away in 1994, yet his memory lives on daily in the D-backs' front office. His son, Rich, was an integral player in the D-backs inception serving as team President from 1995 through 2006 and has an executive conference room named in his honor.

MEDIA COVERAGE POLICIES

Director, Player & Media Relations	Mike McNally
Assistant Director, Player & Media Relations	Aaron Staenberg
Coordinator, Player & Media Relations	Lynita Johnson
Assistant, Player & Media Relations	Bryan Pelekoudas

It is once again a privilege for our staff to be of assistance as you cover the Arizona Diamondbacks. Following are the Player & Media Relations policies for the 2008 season. If you have any questions, do not hesitate to ask any member of our staff and we will make every effort to fulfill your needs.

WORKING PRESS CREDENTIALS: Pursuant to Major League Baseball policy, all season credentials issued by the Arizona Diamondbacks will include a laminated picture identification. Due to security issues, no member of the media will be allowed access to Chase Field without showing a photo ID. Daily passes will be issued to media members who do not qualify for season credentials. Media who qualify for daily credentials include: freelance writers on a specific assignment for a publication, representatives of weekly and monthly publications working on special coverage, and additional radio and television representatives when the need arises for extra pre-game personnel (i.e. live shots, etc.). Requests for daily credentials must come directly from the affiliation editor, producer, or director, at least 48 hours in advance of the game being requested. Requests may be made via FAX or company email if the requesting affiliation is currently on file with the Player & Media Relations office.

PHOTO CREDENTIALS: Daily photo passes will be issued to photographers on assignment for legitimate news gathering organizations, and representatives of companies licensed by Major League Baseball. Requests for photographer credentials must follow the procedure detailed above. The Arizona Diamondbacks will not issue credentials to freelance photographers. Please remember that priority in all photo areas will be granted to news organizations on nightly deadlines. Field photo space at Chase Field is at a premium and priority for space will be given to daily publications and wire services. There is also a small space designated for in-game photography in the front row of the press box. All photographs taken are to be used for news-gathering purposes or officially licensed products only. Any other use of photographs taken will be considered a violation of existing trademark and copyright restrictions.

AUTOGRAPH POLICY: Credentialed members of the media are prohibited from requesting autographs or equipment on the playing field, in the dugout or in the clubhouse. Any violation of these guidelines will result in immediate revocation of the credential and bar future use.

CLUBHOUSE ACCESS: All credentials will list specific locations in Chase Field where access is permitted. Members of the media must have a specific reason for clubhouse access to gain admittance. The clubhouse is the dressing and preparation area for the players for that day's game and is not a place for the media to congregate. The clubhouse will close one hour prior to the first pitch, and there may be times where the clubhouse will close earlier for team meetings. Generally, no more than a 10-minute "cooling off" period is applied after games. Post-game access to the visiting clubhouse will be determined by the individual club's policies.

FIELD ACCESS: All members of the media with field access provided on their credential will be allowed to conduct interviews during specified times prior to the start of the game. The field must be cleared 50 minutes prior to the beginning of the game, and at no time is the media permitted in fair territory, or outside the first and third base bags. These precautions are for the safety of all involved while batting practice is in progress.

LIVE TRANSMISSIONS: Non-rightsholders are permitted to transmit live reports from Chase Field prior to and after every game. All television live shots must be done in designated areas outside the clubhouse due to space limitations, or on the warning track area outside either dugout. Live television reports by non-rightsholders are prohibited while the rightsholder is on the air or the game is in progress. Radio stations and assigned correspondents for out of town reports are allowed to give inning or half inning score updates. At no time can they file reports once play is under way. Any violation of these policies will result in immediate revocation of credentials.

CELLULAR PHONES: The use of cellular phones is prohibited on the field or in either clubhouse. The only time a radio correspondent can use a cellular phone for an interview would be in either dugout after receiving advance permission from the player or staff member. Any other telephone interviews must be arranged through the D-backs' Player & Media Relations Department.

ROVING CAMERAS: Television stations are prohibited from using a camera light in the seating area of the ballpark. Should a light come on, the game could be stopped by the umpiring crew and any stoppage in play due to a camera light will result in revocation of the credential. Separate credentials will be available for "roving" the stands prior to games. For the comfort of our fans, interviews are to be conducted on the concourse, not in the stands while the game is in progress.

WORKING PRESS BOX: The press box at Chase Field is located directly behind home plate. The writers' wing is on the first base side, while the broadcast booths are behind the plate and towards the third base side. The front row of the Working Press Box is for members of the BBWAA. All electronic media seats are in the second and third rows. Game notes and statistics will be available for pick-up at least two hours before game time in the area immediately behind the working press box. The D-backs also offer additional working space, with television monitors, in the area behind the press box. A fax machine and copier are available in the press box should the need arise. The press box is an active working area and cheering and loud conversation will not be permitted. At no time will guests be permitted in the press box. The Arizona Diamondbacks prohibit any person under the age of 18 from entering the press box level on game days.

PRESS DINING: The press dining room is located behind the press box. As is consistent with all National League clubs, pre-game meals for the media will be available for a cost, and will be served two hours prior to game time through the end of the first inning. Media members must be properly credentialed for admittance to the dining room.

PHONES FOR MEDIA: The Arizona Diamondbacks are fortunate to have an ample supply of Charge Call phones in the press box. If for some reason media members feel there are not enough lines available, they should investigate installing their own line for use during the season. To have a phone extension installed for the season, or for a single visit to Chase Field, please contact Vicki Berryman at (602) 462-6099.

CHASE FIELD

CHASE FIELD CONSTANTLY REDEFINING GREAT GAME EXPERIENCE

One need not look far to see the most dynamic change to Chase Field.

Towering high above center field is the newest, widest and most magnificent video board in Major League Baseball, a 136-foot-by-46-foot high definition LED board, made by Daktronics.

Based in Brookings, SD, Daktronics is one of the world's leading manufacturers of electronic video boards and other large display systems. The company also worked with the D-backs and the Maricopa Stadium District on installing Chase Field's now-outdated incandescent and cathode ray tube boards, the sound system which was updated in 2006, and the LED ribbon display installed prior to the 2007 season that rings the second deck of the stadium. The ribbon runs 1,119 feet and is the largest of its kind in Major League Baseball.

The new LED (light-emitting diode) board is so wide that it is capable of displaying two true high-definition 16:9 images side by side. It will also provide the D-backs video crew with many display options, including using it to show one gigantic video display, or to segment into multiple windows showing a video, animation, still images, a scoreboard and more.

The board has 880 native lines of resolution and provides video in up to 4.4 trillion colors. Though it will be attached to the existing structure in the "batter's eye" in center field, the board is eight times bigger than the existing CRT video board that was used for the D-backs' first 10 years.

The project consumed Chase Field for much of the 2007-2008 offseason in order to be finished in time for the D-backs' home opener April 7 against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

With the changes in signage and appearance that occurred concurrent with the D-backs' re-branding in 2007, the new LED video board is helping to keep Chase Field among the world's most innovative and technology-driven stadiums.

It's not the first time Chase Field has been considered innovative, however.

Nestled among Jefferson Street to the north, Fourth Street to the south and Seventh Street to the east, Chase Field is the epicenter of the downtown Phoenix sports experience. When ground first broke on the building in November of 1995, it was always intended to be among baseball's most unique parks. Then-named Bank One Ballpark was the first to feature a pool, which sits just beyond the right-center field fence. The facility is also air-conditioned and features a retractable roof.

The Riviera Pools Pavilion sits 415 feet from home plate and has been the recipient of many home run balls. The first was hit by Mark Grace, though not during his three years as a D-backs first baseman. He hit it prior to coming to Arizona, as a member of the Chicago Cubs, on May 12, 1998.

With all of the amenities and unique facets of the facility, one can easily imagine that it took significant time to build. The project began more than two years before the D-backs ever played a game, but it took all of that time — 28 months in total — to complete the structure, at a cost of $354 million. The park was designed by Ellerbe Beckett, with Bill Johnson serving as the design principal, John Watson as project manager and the Huber Hunt & Nichols company working as the managing contractor.

The designers borrowed from the downtown Phoenix warehouse district in their concepts, using red brick and exposed green structural steel. They even borrowed a real warehouse, in fact, incorporating the former Arizona Citrus Growers' Packing House as the south façade of the building, currently used as a commissary for Chase Field's concession stands.

On Sept. 23, 2005, the stadium name was changed to Chase Field (from the previous Bank One Ballpark) after the merger between Chase and Bank One.

The ballpark was officially opened when the D-backs took on the Colorado Rockies on March 31, 1998, though it has since been used for many events other than baseball. During the 2004 elections, President George W. Bush held a rally for supporters at the stadium.

But the park is more known for its sports-related uses, of course. Arizona State University and the University of Arizona played two "Challenge at Chase" games at the park in 2006 and 2007, with the Arizona Wildcats winning both times. The stadium hosted the first-ever outdoor college basketball game, when the ASU women's team hosted Tennessee Dec. 27, 2000. The Sun Devils played at the stadium again on Dec. 18, 2006, though the basketball game was cut short with just over four minutes to go because rain began to fall through the opened roof. Chase Field was also the former home of the Insight Bowl, part of college football's yearly bowl series. The final Insight Bowl played at Chase Field was won by ASU 45-40 over Rutgers.

The field has also been used to host the Professional Bull Riders Built Ford Tough Series, AMA Supercross, several international soccer matches and monster truck competition in the Monster Jam series.

One of the signature non-D-backs events that Chase Field has hosted was indeed baseball, though. Prior to the 2006 season, Major League Baseball and the International Baseball Federation used the facility to host the opening round of the first World Baseball Classic. The United States defeated Mexico, 2-0, in the first game played at Chase.

One of the main reasons Chase Field is considered such a desirable host for sporting events is, of course, its retractable roof. Made with nine million pounds of structural steel and operating with similar technology as draw bridges and overhead traveling cranes, the roof is opened and closed with a pair of 200-horsepower motors taking a little more than four minutes. It also incorporates more than four miles of cable strung through a pulley system. It opens from the middle, so the two segments of the roof can be opened or closed either in unison or independently, depending on need.

The roof opens and closes to its own music, which was composed to time out at exactly the four and a half minutes needed to move it.

On game days, the roof is left open to help grow the natural grass that is used on the playing field. The surface consists of Bull's Eye Bermuda, which is considered the most suitable grass for a retractable-roof stadium. Should sunlight prove to be insufficient, requiring more light on some days, large incandescent lights provide a substitute.

A decision is then made on a day-to-day basis of whether the roof will remain open or closed at game time. The main factor is, of course, the weather. If there is inclement weather, or the threat of inclement weather, the roof will be closed, as it will during day games in the summer when Phoenix temperatures are regularly well over 100 degrees. Because Chase Field is positioned directly north-south, the roof is rarely open during day games even in comfortable weather because of the effect that the afternoon sunlight has on fans along the first-base line.

For those hot summer games, Chase Field is air conditioned using the Northwinds cooling system, which was designed to cool down the highly populated facilities in Downtown Phoenix in 2001. The system cools the ballpark in less time than the prior air conditioning system did, which allows for the roof to remain open longer during the day time.

The air conditioning, along with the LED board and pool area, is all part of the overall Chase Field experience, along with the food and in-game entertainment, of course.

In nearly a quarter mile of concession stand area, fans can order nearly any kind of food imaginable. In addition to standard ballpark fare offered at many stands, fans can order from Peter Piper Pizza, Fatburger, Gordon Biersch, Garcia's Mexican food, Panda Express Chinese cuisine and more. One of the more unique stands is Big Dawgs, where fans can order grilled foot-long hot dogs topped with all sorts of items, such as French fries, chili and cole slaw.

Like the combination of a dirt strip to the mound and a retractable roof, the in-game entertainment is a blend of old and new. While the game operations crew plays current hits with the state-of-the-art sound system, the D-backs also incorporate organ music by Bobby Freeman, who has been with the organization since its inception.

With a hot dog in hand, singing along to "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" played on the stadium organ, and all sorts of video playing on the new high-definition board all in air-conditioned comfort, the Chase Field experience is second-to-none.

GRANT TRENBEATH

Head Groundskeeper

Grant Trenbeath has mastered growing and maintaining natural grass in a retractable roof environment as he enters his 11th season as the only Head Groundskeeper at Chase Field, the first MLB stadium built with that combination. Trenbeath has been a pioneer in handling grass in a retractable roof venue and has served as a consultant to other retractable roof venues in Major League Baseball, sharing his expertise on how to balance maintaining an aesthetically pleasing and safe playing surface with the need for fan comfort.

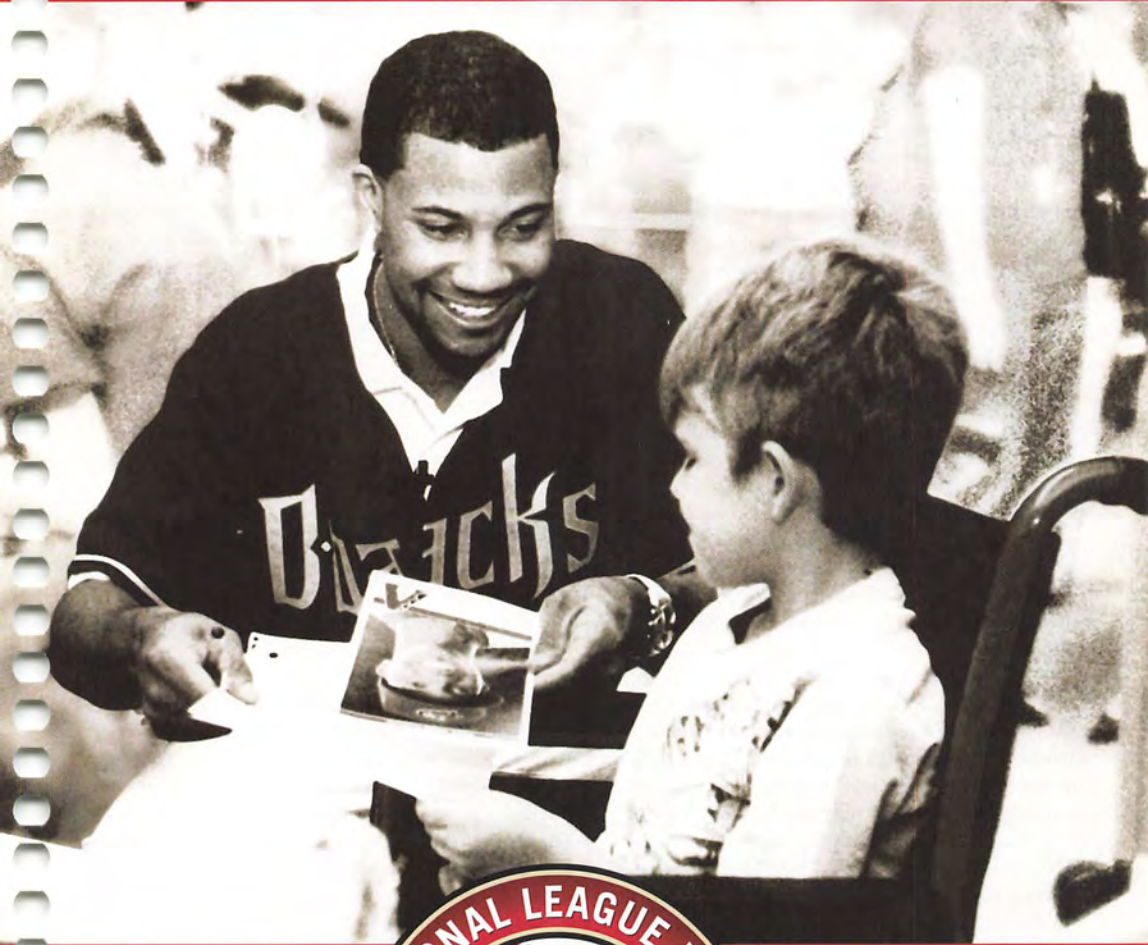

Trenbeath's continued dedication to his craft has not gone unnoticed. The Chase Field surface was ranked among players as the second best in the National League in a 2003 poll commissioned by Sports Illustrated. In 2006, he was also acknowledged for his efforts when he was selected by the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl Committee to serve as the Director of Grounds for the 36th annual Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and the first ever Tostitos BCS National Championship Game at the University of Phoenix Stadium.

Trenbeath has worked in turf management for 15 years, spending three seasons with the Oakland Athletics' minor league affiliate in Medford, Ore., then joining the A's as head groundskeeper for their minor league complex and spring training for three seasons before joining the D-backs seven months prior to their inaugural season.

Trenbeath brings a player's perspective to turf management, having played baseball while attending Willamette University in Salem, Ore. Grant, and his wife, Trina, and 2-year-old daughter Annika make their home in Chandler.

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

D-BACKS LEADING THE WAY IN COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

Since its inception in 1997, before the Diamondbacks ever took the field, the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation has been a Valley leader in community involvement.

The Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation has donated more than $15 million to communities throughout Arizona since it was first established, and donated about $3.5 million in 2007.

The foundation focuses its efforts on three main areas of need: homelessness, indigent healthcare and children's programs of all types, including education and youth baseball field development.

The cornerstone of giving for the foundation is the "Diamonds Back" Field Building Program, which has built or refurbished 26 youth baseball fields in Arizona since 2000.

The newest community involvement program started by the D-backs is the addition of a season ticket scholarship.

Recognized in Sports Illustrated and on CBS Sports.com in early 2008 as being revolutionary, the season ticket scholarship is new to professional sports. It is believed that there is no other such scholarship plans offered by other MLB teams or any other teams in professional sports as a whole.

Eligible fans received 2008 season tickets provided free of charge by the D-backs organization. Existing season ticket holders who may have experienced a change in personal circumstances were given priority, followed by new fans who demonstrated financial need along with their love for the game and the D-backs.

The idea began on the heels of the D-backs giving $150 food vouchers to season ticket holders to thank them for their support toward the end of the 2007 season. But the D-backs were looking to do more.

After a selection process the D-backs awarded seven applicants — with seat amounts varying per applicant — with full season tickets in the lower deck for the 2008 season.

Some of the other important community involvement includes the Winter Classic, the Hometown Tour presented by APS, the Great Bike Chase and, of course, the Evening on the Diamond.

In 2007, the first Evening on the Diamond event at Chase Field helped raise about $1.1 million to benefit the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation. For the 2008 event, the D-backs are setting an even loftier goal: $1.5 million.

The Evening on the Diamond, held March 27 this year, includes a cocktail party and dinner on the Chase Field diamond attended by many of the Valley's philanthropists and corporations. Every member of the D-backs' coaching staff and team sits with guests at selected tables.

Sports memorabilia and entertainment packages are available for purchase in the silent auction, and sports packages go to the highest bidder in the live auction.

The event also includes musical performances. The headline performer in the 2008 event is jazz and R&B performer George Benson. The 2007 event was highlighted by a Kenny Loggins performance.

The Winter Classic, Hometown Tour and Great Bike Chase are examples of some of the ways the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation gives back to the community.

The D-backs have been hosting the Winter Classic for underprivileged children at Chase Field ever since the team's inception in 1998. Beginning in 2005, though, the team decided to do even more for the participating children. For the past three years, D-backs employees have provided new pairs of athletic shoes for the holidays at the event.

"Everybody who has the means should give back if they have the chance," said D-backs pitching coach Bryan Price, who has appeared at three Winter Classics. "The Diamondbacks make an extra effort, and I'm proud to be a part of that extension. To me, we're benefiting because we get to watch the excitement on the kids' faces."

About 250 children participated in the 2007 Classic from Improving Chandler Area Neighborhoods, HK Cummings and Valle del Sol. Youngsters from St. Peter's Indian Mission were scheduled to participate as well, but they were unable to come to Chase Field because of flooding in their area. The team went to the mission on Dec. 18 with Santa Claus and catcher Chris Snyder in tow to deliver presents and shoes directly to the children.

Each group of kids rotates through a series of four stations, monitored by a group of volunteers that includes about 25 D-backs employees.

At the Santa Claus station, each youngster has the opportunity to sit on Santa Claus' lap for a picture with a D-backs player and receive a toy. At the food station, the kids get to sample ballpark fare and eat at picnic tables. At the music station, they have the chance to expend some energy by participating in a variety of upbeat dances emceed by a DJ.

And at the shoe station, each child receives a new pair of shoes and has an opportunity to talk to and receive autographs from D-backs players and coaches.

Every year, D-backs players, coaches and staff head north, south, east and west to visit the cities and small towns that make up the Arizona fan base on the D-backs Hometown Tour presented by APS.

Stops include visits to schools and hospitals, along with autograph signings and appearances on D-backs radio affiliates.

"It's been fun, just getting out and meeting people that don't get a chance to come out to the ballpark and watch us play all the time," said D-backs pitcher Nippert, who traveled on the south tour in 2008.

Shortstop Stephen Drew, who grew up in Habira, Ga., a small town three hours from Atlanta, said he was able to find an immediate connection with D-backs fans who live hours away from Chase Field.

"I kind of know what those kids feel like," said Drew, who traveled on the east tour in 2008. "When somebody comes in who they have seen on TV, they say, 'whoa.' It's a great feeling for them. I like that small town feeling. That brought back some memories."

Pitcher Doug Slaten, who traveled with Drew, agreed.

"It's kind of cool to know there's Diamondbacks fans everywhere who watch games all the time," Slaten said.

The Great Bike Chase is an event held each year to promote fitness and bike safety, and is attended by more than 1,000 fans annually.

The 2008 Great Bike Chase is the 11th annual event, held April 20 at Chase Field before the D-backs' game against the Colorado Rockies. Pre-game activities include kids' activities such as face painting and a puppeteer, live entertainment by D-backs organist Bobby Freeman, bike safety checks, helmet fittings, and prize drawings.

About 2,000 bicyclists are expected to participate in 2008, which would be the largest group ever. The ride is in conjunction with Valley Bike Month, which celebrates and promotes bicycling as a method to get exercise, reduce traffic congestion and help clean the air. The cost is $14 per person and includes a $15 value reserved seat at the game, a Great Bike Chase T-shirt, refreshments, prize drawings, entertainment, a police-escorted ride, and secure bike parking in the Jefferson Street garage.

The Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation's cornerstone of giving is the "Diamonds Back" Field Building Program. The fields are built through the aid of corporate partner APS, local businesses, funds from the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation and monetary donations from individual players and owners.

Mark Reynolds greets a fan in a hospital.

Fields include a backstop, full fencing, dugouts, bleachers, bullpens, irrigation, fully turfed playing surfaces, warning tracks, electric scoreboards, scorer's tables, storage units and lighting systems.

The most recent project completed in the program was the construction of the Diamondbacks Youth Complex, a four-field area in Phoenix that opened on Sept. 17, 2007, which includes two adaptive fields for youth with disabilities, making the complex the first of its kind in Arizona.

The Reach League, a new program run by the City of Phoenix Adaptive Services Program, began play Oct. 13, 2007 on the adaptive fields.

"The opportunity for kids who experience a disability and those who do not, to play the game of baseball together, is priceless," D-backs president Derrick Hall said. "This is definitely one of our proudest moments in team history."

The D-backs also have many other community programs, including Chad Tracy's Cover-to-Cover reading program, with which students from 16 area schools can attend a D-backs game on a luxury bus with meals, tickets, autographs and T-shirts provided in recognition of their completion of a reading program.

Other programs include Read Your Way to the Ballpark in conjunction with 12 public library districts in Maricopa County, and Family Health and Safety Day.

One of the most exciting fundraisers each year is the last one of the baseball season, the "Shirts off our D-backs" event. During Fandemonium weekend at Chase Field, D-backs fans can enter a raffle to win autographed, authentic jerseys from the D-backs players and coaching staff. The D-backs raise more than $100,000 annually through the event.

A board of Diamondback and Maricopa County appointees are responsible for annually approving all grant applications. The Arizona Diamondbacks take great pride in being recognized as a leader in community giving. Our commitment to the needs of our state will continue to be a cornerstone of our corporate mission.

D. BAXTER THE BOBCAT

Mascot

HEIGHT, WEIGHT:

6-0, 200

INTRODUCED:

June 23, 2000

RESIDENCE:

Baxters Den
at Chase Field

D. Baxter the Bobcat came out of the bag on June 23, 2000, at Chase Field. The idea for the mascot came from Brantley Bell, son of Diamondback Spring Advisor and former second baseman Jay Bell, who explained to his dad that the team should have a "BOB" cat as a mascot since the team played in the BOB (Bank One Ballpark). Bell informed management about his son's idea and the mascot was developed.

Today, Baxter has gained acceptance throughout the baseball world for his athleticism and an infamous "fur" ball. In addition to his numerous game-day responsibilities, Baxter also serves as an ambassador for the Diamondbacks organization, venturing off the field to visit hospitals, schools, community festivals, and corporate functions throughout the Valley and the state of Arizona. During the fourth inning of every home game, Baxter can be found in his Den, signing autographs and taking photographs with all of his adoring fans. Baxter's Den is located in the Peter Piper Playhouse on the main concourse beyond centerfield.

For more information on Baxter, call (602) 462-6630.

JOE BLACK

On May 17, 2002, Major League Baseball and the Arizona Diamondbacks suffered a great loss with the passing of Joseph Black, Jr.. He began his playing career in the Negro Leagues and shuffled through various professional leagues before making his Major League debut in 1952 with the Brooklyn Dodgers as a teammate of Jackie Robinson. In his rookie season, Joe made baseball history when he became the first African-American pitcher to win a World Series game and was eventually named the National League Rookie of the Year.

Joe remained an integral part of baseball following his playing days. As Vice President of B.A.T., the Baseball Assistance Team, he dedicated his time to helping fellow baseball players who had fallen on hard times. He contributed his vast knowledge of the game as a consultant to the Commissioner of Major League Baseball. A resident of Phoenix, he worked in the Diamondbacks' Community Affairs Department, sharing his stories as a guest speaker for numerous community groups.

Beyond baseball, Joe was a pioneer in the business world and worked tirelessly to impact the civil and human rights advancements for minorities.

In remembrance of Joe, a baseball bearing his name hangs from the rafters of Chase Field, along with the retired number of his former Brooklyn Dodger teammate Jackie Robinson.

The Arizona Fall League will honor Joe's memory with the Joe Black Trophy, awarded to the league's Most Valuable Player. Ken Harvey (Kansas City Royals) of the Scottsdale Scorpions was the inaugural honoree in 2002. Jason Dubois (Chicago Cubs) of the AFL-champion Mesa Solar Sox garnered the honors in 2003. Chris Shelton (Detroit Tigers) of the Grand Canyon Rafters was named the 2004 award winner. Eric Duncan (New York Yankees) of the Grand Canyon Rafters was last year's winner.

YOUTH BASEBALL & SOFTBALL

The Diamondbacks have made a commitment to sharing with the community one of the skills they know best, baseball. Our players' dedication, enthusiasm and respect for the game are visible both on and off the field. Through our organization's community outreach efforts, we strive to revitalize the spirit of baseball and softball to youth in inner cities, renovate fields in underprivileged communities and provide support and training for junior athletes.

"DIAMONDS BACK" FIELD BUILDING PROGRAM

Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation implemented this program for constructing new and rebuilding current youth fields for baseball and softball. The fields are selected by the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation based on need, usage, and ownership and maintenance abilities. Upon completion, fields are donated to an owner who will maintain the facility and regulate usage.

A baseball field can bring together neighborhoods and families. It is a place for making friends and making memories. It is a place for learning a game and learning lessons of life. Through the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation, the "Diamonds Back" Field Building Program is committed to supporting and enhancing youth baseball in our state. This program's sole mission is to design and build youth ball fields so that more children can experience the great game of baseball. Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation, our Diamondbacks players and community partners such as APS are creating diamonds from dirt, and making a Major League difference in the lives of Arizona's youth.

EXECUTION

Funding for the "Diamonds Back" Field Building Program comes from corporate sponsors, player participation and Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation Youth Baseball Fund, as well as in-kind and donated services and materials. A design and construction team will build fields, led by Nelsen Partners as general contractor.

An application and selection process will determine most fields. Interested parties must complete and submit a "Diamonds Back" Youth Field application form. This application is also available for any smaller grants for youth baseball and softball needs. To request an application, write to Alison Gabel, Manager Community Development, Arizona Diamondbacks, P.O. Box 2095, Phoenix, AZ 85001.

Fields may include: backstop, full fencing, dugouts, bleachers, bullpens, irrigation, fully turfed playing field, warning tracks, electric scoreboard, scorer's table and storage unit and lighting system. Projects will depend on existing infrastructure, needs and future funding.

On September 17, 2007, the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation unveiled the $3.7 million Diamondbacks Youth Complex at the Reach 11 Sports Complex in northeast Phoenix. The four-field complex features two adaptive fields for youth with disabilities. This complex is the first of its kind in Arizona and is home to Brandon Webb Field, Chad Tracy Field, Rich Dozer Field and the D-backs Partners Field. This project was made possible through the aid of Brandon Webb, Chad Tracy, the D-backs Partners, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, the City of Phoenix, Arizona Public Service, Summit Builders, The Baseball Tomorrow Fund, Thunderbirds Charities, Virginia G. Piper Charitable Trust, and many other local businesses. Since 2000, the Diamondbacks have completed 26 fields for a total donation of more than $10 million.

SPRING TRAINING 2008

Tucson Electric Park

The Diamondbacks and Chicago White Sox share Tucson Electric Park during the month of March, with thousands of fans from both the Valley and Windy City making the trip to the Old Pueblo for exhibition action. T.E.P. seats 11,000 which includes room for 3,000 fans on the lawn beyond the outfield fence.

The D-backs not only have the good fortune of training less than two hours away from Chase Field, they work in one of the top-of-the-line spring facilities in baseball. Tucson Electric Park is the centerpiece of the Pima County Kino Sports Complex, that also includes six-field practice facilities for both the Diamondbacks and Chicago White Sox.

Tucson Electric Park has a capacity of 11,000, including 8,000 seats in the main grandstand and another 3,000 available on the outfield lawn. Also the summer home of the Tucson Sidewinders, T.E.P. features a Major League clubhouse that the D-backs use in the spring, and clubhouses for visiting clubs and umpires. The home clubhouse also has an indoor batting cage located on the lower level on the way to the playing field.

During the spring session, the D-backs will dress daily in the major league clubhouse at Tucson Electric Park, while doing the majority of their work at the minor league complex across Ajo Way. Once the exhibition season begins, Arizona will take batting practice either on the stadium field, or on a diamond behind T.E.P., where the D-backs also have a half-field for infield work.

The spring of 2008 marks the 63rd year for spring training in the Tucson community, with the Cleveland Indians calling the Old Pueblo home from 1947-92. While the D-backs and White Sox work at the Kino Complex, the Colorado Rockies took over Hi Corbett Field in 1993 and are in their 14th spring there.

Tucson Electric Park has a symmetrical playing surface, measuring 340 feet down each foul line and 405 to straightaway centerfield. The spring home for the Diamondbacks is located at 2500 East Ajo Way in Tucson.
